Ike Slams JFK 'Power Grab'

. . . LIKES SEATON FOR GOVERNOR

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Omaha—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower Wednesday urged the election of Republican candidates to call a halt to the Kennedy administration's "grab for power."

In Nebraska to throw the weight of his enormous prestige and popularity behind his longtime aide, GOP gubernatorial nominee Fred Seaton, Ike struck hard and often at his White House successor.

Two "very alarming" trends are sweeping Washington, Eisenhower told a cheering airport crowd of 500 gathered on the massive concrete apron of Eppley Field.

'Invading State Functions'

First, he said, is "a general absorption of government power in Washington . . . invading the proper functions of state government."

The other is "an obvious attempt to center political power within the executive department," Eisenhower said, "power which has never been given to a single man and never should be."

Congress, the former chief executive declared, has been "asked to abdicate its responsibilities to a small clique of self-appointed preceptors."

And when President Kennedy himself says that a 2 to 1 Democratic majority in the Senate and a 3 to 2 majority in the House is "not sufficient for him . . . then he is really asking for one-party government," Ike insisted.

That kind of government is "typical of dictatorship," the retired general said.

"How much more does he need?" Eisenhower asked.

"What he needs is a darn good influx of Republicans."

Flying in from Denver aboard a sleek, white twin-engine turbo-prop, Eisenhower consumed his hour's stay with a 10-minute speech, an abbreviated news conference, a picture-taking session with GOP candidates and a brief private meeting with Seaton.

'Seaton Thinks, Acts'

He heaped praise upon his former secretary of the interior, describing Seaton as "an executive, a thinker, a man of action and a man of decision."

Seaton, he said, is "the kind of man I would like to see as governor of any state in which I might happen to live."

Looking hale and hearty, Eisenhower stopped occasionally to sign autographs and flashed his famous smile at waving supporters.

Ike said he is "almost more deeply involved in this election than in any of the others," largely because he is dedicated to "awaken the people to what is happening."

It is now time, he declared, "to take those New Frontiersmen who promised the world and gave us nothing, and say to them that this is not for us."

Eisenhower parried a newsman's question about Cuba, noting that "I have plenty of thoughts on that but I won't talk about them here."

Nisley Backs Seaton's Statement On Promise

State AFL-CIO President Richard Nisley said late Wednesday night that Republican gubernatorial candidate Fred Seaton "did not make any promises" at a meeting with labor leaders last spring as charged earlier by Gov. Frank Morrison.

Morrison had re-opened the issue of AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education (COPE) support of the candidates at a news conference in Lincoln.

He said that Henry Greenwalt, regional director of COPE, told him last week that Seaton had met secretly with labor leaders last spring before the primaries and agreed to back 3 major labor proposals in the next legislature in exchange for labor's support. The governor listed these as a state labor relations act, a minimum wage law, and an escalator clause in the state workman's compensation act.

Contacted at North Platte, Nisley was asked about the meeting, and if Seaton had made any promises.

"No, he did not," the labor chief replied. "We expressed our views, both ways, on the labor situation, but there were no promises made either way."

Asked who called the meeting, Nisley replied that he had contacted Seaton and requested the meeting as he noted union leaders are obligated by their respective offices to contact every candidate—Republican or Democrat.

Nisley noted the "full screening committee" was present at the meeting.

Not Secret

Seaton also declared the meeting to which the governor referred was not secret and had been discussed in public several times.

"I made no package promise of any kind . . . I made no such pledge to anybody," he declared. About 20 persons were at that meeting, he said.

He also noted that it was Gov. Morrison, not he, who got the COPE endorsement.

Release Parley Snags

DONOVAN, CASTRO TO PURSUE TALKS

. . . But No Date Set For Next Meeting

Havana (AP) — Negotiations for the release of 1,113 captives of the 1961 Bay of Pigs invasion hit a snag Wednesday night and hopes for their early release were dashed.

The talks between negotiator James B. Donovan of New York and Prime Minister Fidel Castro were to have ended Wednesday night. But a spokesman for the rescue committee said the talks "have not ended. Certain points have to be revised and this will take two or 3 further meetings."

Donovan and the Cuban members of the rescue committee spent 4 hours with Castro at the presidential palace Wednesday night. A committee spokesman had earlier expressed confidence this would be the last talks with only minor details and publicity arrangements to be thrashed out.

No Communique

In a tired voice reflecting strain, the informant said no communique would be issued Wednesday night as previously promised. No date was set for the next meeting, he added, but it was expected to take place Thursday or Friday.

The spokesman refused to say whether difficulties had been encountered. But the fact that other meetings are scheduled appeared to dispel fears that the talks had foundered.

Donovan, who believes his negotiations can bear fruit only with secrecy, kept complete silence while relatives of the prisoners remained confident a solution was at hand.

There was no indication that the negotiations were affected in any way by the claim of an exile group in the United States and Puerto Rico that it had raided the north coast port of Isabella de Sagua Monday and killed 20 persons.

Not Confirmed

The raid has not been confirmed by the Castro government and there has been no announcement of the exiles' claim here. Nor has there been any comment.

The meeting of the New York attorney and Castro had been postponed Tuesday with the explanation that Castro was busy welcoming President Osvaldo Dorticos home from the U.N. assembly.

During the day Donovan and two Cuban members of the prisoner rescue committee were advised to stand by for the meeting.

Closed Doors

Then in the afternoon Donovan joined Castro behind closed doors in the presidential palace.

Informants here said Pan American Airways has offered to fly out the prisoners to Maimi as quickly as possible should the negotiations—reported to be progressing—end favorably.

In Washington, one source close to the negotiations cautioned late in the day: "this thing is not wrapped up by far."

Donovan, the Democratic nominee for U.S. Senator in New York, has emphasized that he is acting in a private capacity for relatives of the prisoners.

Exile Group Raids Cuba

Miami, Fla. (AP) — An exile group reported Wednesday it had raided the north coast of Cuba early Monday, killing 20 persons. There was immediate speculation as to whether the action affected touchy negotiations for release of last year's invasion prisoners.

The exile organization, which calls itself Alpha 66, said the raid was made at 12:20 a.m. on the port of Isabella de Sagua, 150 miles east of Havana.

It said the principal objective was a camp of Cuban militiamen and Russian military men protected by numerous trenches and powerful lights.

War Communique

An Alpha 66 report on the action, termed a "war communique," said in part:

"The battle ended at 2:12 a.m. In the railroad yards of the city, a warehouse of military supplies and 4 other strategic points were destroyed, many weapons and some flags of the enemy were captured.

"No fewer than 20 enemy were killed."

A spokesman said the dead included Russians but he gave no figures.

Some Wounded

The attacking force was given as 15 to 25 men. Some were wounded, it was said, but all got away safely.

This report and other developments added confusion to what already was a cloudy situation concerning prospects for release of 1,113 Cubans captured during the abortive Bay of Pigs invasion in April 1961.

Officials of Cuban groups made no immediate comment concerning whether they thought the negotiations might have been affected by the Monday foray against Cuba, but the possibility apparently was being considered.

Freeman Nixes Nebraska Visit

. . . FOR CORNPICKING CONTEST

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman will not come to Nebraska Friday to address the National Cornpicking Contest at Grand Island as scheduled, The Lincoln Star learned Wednesday.

Rodney Leonard, assistant to the secretary, confirmed to The Star reports that Freeman had changed his earlier announced plans to speak at the contest.

Leonard said it was his "understanding" that the decision not to come had been made "last week."

Leonard also said it was his "understanding" that the "press of business here (Washington)" was the reason that Freeman had decided not to come to Nebraska.

Nebraska sources said a telegram was received late last week from the secretary's office stating that Norman Clapp, administrator of the Rural Electrification Administration, would substitute for Freeman at the contest.

A call was made to the secretary's office in Washington to verify the telegram. Nebraska interests noted at the time that there had been considerable publicity already issued stating that Freeman would speak at the contest.

It was indicated the secretary would "reconsider" his decision, but no further word was received until Wednesday afternoon when a telephone call came from Freeman's office stating that the secretary definitely would not come to Nebraska.

Officials of the cornpicking contest at Grand Island said late Wednesday night they had not yet reached a decision on who would substitute for the agriculture secretary Friday morning.

New Town Springs Up For Contest

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

Grand Island — A new Nebraska city of near-2,000 population sprang up 3 miles northeast of here Wednesday afternoon. It was soon tabbed "Contest Land."

It was the first concrete indication that the World Series of agriculture, the State and National Cornpicking Contests, were to be staged here.

For contestants, exhibitors and officials, the two-day contest had an early start. In a Wednesday evening meeting of contestants with officials, safety precautions were again highly emphasized.

Contestants endorsed enforcement of the regulation disqualifying any contestant who gets off his cornpicker without shutting off its engine.

Winner Back

Last year's winner, Ron Schmid of Rising City, will be entering the state contest with a new tractor, but he will be using the same picker he has used to capture two previous state titles.

Von Gertsch of Monroe, who won the 1958 and 1960 contests, will be competing with a new self-propelled picker.

Contestants were familiarized here Wednesday evening with field conditions and were promised they would be able to compete in the highest-yielding corn they're ever had for a state contest.

Advance estimates placed Thursday crowds at near 20,000, with 60,000 persons expected for the national contest Friday.

Exhibits at the contest site cover more than 40 acres on the Fred Heinz farm.

21st Ecumenical Council Opens

Vatican City (UPI) —Pope John XXIII walked Thursday in a processional of ancient pomp to open an Ecumenical Council which could dramatically affect all Christianity in the dawn of the space age.

The 80-year-old pontiff, whose mind is alert to the challenge of youth and change, gathered before him in the splendor of St. Peter's Basilica some 3,000 "fathers" of the half-billion member Roman Catholic Church.

It was the first such council in nearly a century and only the 21st since the start of the Christian era. The gathering of 3,000 cardinals, archbishops and other church leaders was the largest in 20 centuries of church history.

Non-Catholics

Looking down on the white-clad Pope from separate velvet-draped balconies erected in the heart of the marble-columned church were 50 non-Catholic leaders of many Christian faiths numbering a quarter of a billion members.

What they see and hear during this council, opened with a plea by the pontiff for church unity, may determine the eventual unification of many Christian faiths including the Russian Orthodox. Moscow was reported considering a Vatican invitation to attend.

Pope John acknowledged the cheers of hundreds of thousands gathered in St. Peter's cobblestoned square when he was carried on a portable throne by scarlet-dressed bearers from the Vatican palace to the bronze doors of the Basilica.

Shuffling slowly before and beside him were the medieval-garbed Swiss, Palatine and Noble guards of the Vatican and the 3,000 persons taking part in the council. They were dressed in distinctive robes in a rainbow of colors.

The deep tone of the great bells of St. Peters was joined by a medley from the 500 churches of neighboring Rome.

The Pope descended from his "gestatorial chair" at the portal of the Basilica to continue on foot through the marble-floored nave.

Live Tee Vee

Television cameras followed the procession, flashing the pictures "live" to a 15-nation European network and eventually into space for relay to North America.

A French relay station was beaming the council pictures to the U.S. Telstar satellite between 1:45 p.m. (7:45 am. CST) and 3:00 p.m. (9:00 a.m. CST; for relay to American and Candian viewers.

The space theme corresponded to the more adventurous aims of the council which, in the Pope's words, has the goal of bringing the Roman Catholic Church "into step with modern times."

20 Tankers, 672 Men To Quit LAFB

Lincoln Air Force Base will lose 672 military personnel and 20 KC97 tankers next spring with inactivation of the 98th Refueling Squadron.

The base anouncement said inactivation will take place in April 1963. Other base units will not be affected.

Assigned here since 1954, the 98th is the second propeller-driven tanker unit lost to LAFB in less than 3 years. The 307th Air Refueling Sq. was transferred to Selfridge AFB, Mich., in June 1960.

Reduction of SAC force by dropping the 98th is the result of the introduction of missiles into the command's arsenal, LAFB said.

The stay of the 98th at LAFB was lengthened last year by the President's decision to retain B47 units previously scheduled for inactivation or conversion. That decision was based on the international satuations at the time.

Maj. Charles L. Peterson commands the squadron.

No Reason To Fear 'Rattlers'

. . . SAYS McNAMARA

Washington (AP) —Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said Wednesday night that with this country's nuclear superiority "we have no reason to fear the Soviet rocket rattlers."

The defense secretary said a growing fleet of Polaris missile-firing submarines, more than 100 Intercontinental Ballistic Missiles, and hundreds of bombers on ground alert provide enough nuclear muscle to deter the Russians from launching an atomic attack.

However, McNamara noted that U.S. nuclear superiority "did not deter the communist invasion of Korea nor the communist drive for domination of Southeast Asia."

Strong Enough

Thus, he said, the United States must maintain conventional and other forces strong enough to deter Red aggression in any form and "if deterrence should be unsuccessful to stop that aggression dead in its tracks."

In a speech at the annual dinner of the Association of the U.S. Army, the defense chief called it a paradox that as weapons of mass destruction become more powerful the role of the army and combat soldier "becomes not less but more important."

McNamara said peaceful coexistence, as espoused by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, actually involves many levels of conflict "from agitation to assassination, from trade fights to shooting fights."

Diversity

The army in particular, he said, "must expand and diversify and modernize itself to deal with a wide range of counter-insurgency and limited war situations."

In response to questions, a Defense Department spokesman said McNamara did not mean to suggest that the army will be expanded in numbers beyond its present 960,000. The spokesman said the defense secretary was talking about expansion of the army's ability in the anti-guerrilla field especially.

In his speech, McNamara noted that the army's elite special forces, used to train forces of friendly countries to combat communist insurgents have been almost quadrupled since the Kennedy administration took office in early 1961.

U.S. Underwriting Prisoner Release

Washington (AP)—The U.S. government has agreed to underwrite the shipment of about $13 million in medicine and food to Cuba if invasion captives are released, informed sources said Wednesday.

Presumably this amount would be augmented by private subscriptions raised by the families of 1,113 men captured in the unsuccessful Bay of Pigs invasion attempt of April 1961.

Prime Minister Fidel Castro has reportedly asked for a total of $62 million in payment for freeing the prisoners. There has been no indication whether New York lawyer James Donovan has been able to pare down this demand in negotiations which may be on the verge of success. Donovan is representing the families of the prisoners.

Reaction

Whatever amount the government contributes, there seemed likely to be volatile reaction in Congress toward the payment of what some members characterized as ransom.

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., and John Stennis, D-Miss., told the Senate they are opposed to any ransom payment.

Williams said he couldn't believe that the government was taking a hand in the prisoner negotiations or that it would "put up any substantial amount of the ransom."

Hadn't Heard

Stennis, a member of the appropriations committee, said he hadn't heard about the possibility that the government would use any of its funds for this purpose.

It was learned, however, that about $3 million has already been appropriated which could be used for this purpose. There was a reported argument over whether an additional $10 million should come from Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) funds or whether Congress should be asked to appropriate it directly.

While the Kennedy administration obviously hopes for release of the prisoners, it took steps to deny a news story in the New York World-Telegram and Sun that Donovan, the Democratic nominee for the senate in New York, is acting as its agent in the negotiations.

Donovan Asked

The newspaper story said that Donovan was asked by Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy last June to undertake the assignment. It said the President's brother told Donovan that the White House had a "moral obligation" to free the prisoners taken in an invasion this country permitted to go ahead.

Edwin Guthman, Justice Department information officer, quoted the attorney general as saying the newspaper's story "is untrue."

U.S. Offers A-Test Ban

...Announces Weekend Blast

United Nations, N.Y. (UPI) —The United States offered anew Wednesday to sign a treaty banning all nuclear tests and providing for international inspection or to outlaw all except underground blasts without inspection.

But it firmly rejected a voluntary moratorium on all tests. U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson told the General Assembly's main political committee:

"Where national security is concerned, an open society cannot undertake with a closed society an arrangement which cannot be verified."

Even as the 109-nation committee began its annual debate on nuclear tests, the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission announced in Washington that it will stage a high altitude nuclear shot of less than a megaton over Johnston Island in the Pacific next Sunday or Monday.

Moment at Hand

"The moment may be at hand when a comprehensive nuclear test ban treaty has again become possible," Stevenson told the committee. "The Soviet Union has had two large nuclear test series in the past year. The United States is completing a series begun last spring.

"Although the explosive force of the Soviet nuclear blasts far exceeds the U.S. tests, we are quite prepared to stop testing now as soon as we have dependable means of knowing that the Soviet Union is going to stop and stay stopped.

"If the U.S.S.R. is satisfied with the progress in its present testing program, a rare period of equilibrium may have been reached in this sector of the arms race. This is a time, therefore, when firm insistence by the General Assembly can forestall another cycle of nuclear tests. Let us make the most of this decisive moment before it passes from us."

Register Anxiety

Stevenson said the assembly could "register emphatically the anxiety and intense feeling of mankind on the subject of nuclear testing."

"At Geneva," he said, "we must translate those feelings into concrete form. And the sooner the better . . .

"The U.S. delegation will return to the . . . disarmament conference with every intention of staying there for as long as may be necessary."

The Geneva talks are in recess until Nov. 14 while the assembly takes up disarmament issues.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin did not share the U.S. eagerness to return to Geneva.

He said the United Nations might delay resumption of the Geneva talks for as long as it wanted to discuss disarmament here.

Stevenson pointed out that there had been a voluntary moratorium on tests for almost 3 years until Russia broke it last year without warning.

Congress Creeping To Close

Washington (AP) — Behind-the-scenes talk Wednesday cracked, at least a bit, the impasse that has frozen Congress into one of its longest sessions as Senate and House members agreed to iron out some of their differences in conferences.

The leaders accomplished this progress with a helping hand from the White House as a specter of a lack of a quorum threatened to halt all action. Members of Congress seeking re-election next month are eager to get back home to campaign and large numbers already have left.

Obstacle Removed

One obstacle to adjournment was removed when President Kennedy — without comment — unexpectedly signed a bill to let self-employed persons set up tax-deductible pension funds.

The big question remained how to solve a deadlock over the annual money bill for the Agriculture Department. The argument is over $25 million in research items in the $5-billion measure which the House opposes just as vigorously.

Informal conferences between Senate and House leaders were reported to have made some progress on the issue.

Resounding 'No'

But the House gave a resounding "No" answer to one Senate solution, a resolution passed last week to provide emergency financing for the department at least until next session while the problem is threshed out. This was rejected by a 24-to-1 roll call vote which passed a resolution saying the Senate action "contravenes" the Constitution and is "an infringement on the privileges of the House to originate appropriation bills."

One step toward adjournment was House agreement to send another controversial measure to Senate-House conference, an omnibus bill to authorize, but not finance, river and harbor and flood control projects all over the nation. The House voted $2.3 billion but the Senate tacked on items raising this to around $4 billion.

The Senate, in turn, agreed to a Senate-House conference on the $2.3-billion highway financing bill. The group quickly reached agreement.

Senate Bows

The Senate bowed to the House on the major point of disagreement—funds for the A-B-C or primary, secondary and urban systems in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1965. The House had voted $975 million for the 50-50 matching grants to the states for the year and the Senate had specified $950 million.

One big appropriation bill was disposed of when a 172-76 House roll call vote and Senate voice passage sent to the White House a $2,025,-895,700 outlay for the State, Justice and Commerce Departments and other agencies for the current fiscal year. It is $97,352,300 less than Kennedy requested.

Included in the total is $100 million for the President to purchase United Nations bonds to help finance the Congo, and Middle East peacekeeping efforts.

The Senate approved a House-passed resolution to put Congress firmly on record for any action, including use of arms, needed to uphold Allied rights in Berlin.

Rioters' Names Given Ole Miss

Oxford, Miss. (UPI) — The U.S. Justice Department Wednesday turned over to University of Mississippi officials for possible disciplinary action a list of students believed to have taken part in bloody campus rioting Sept. 30.

A group of faculty members, meanwhile, scheduled a meeting to discuss a possible protest against failure by the university administration to take action against students involved in the rioting and incidents since then, including the jeering that follows Negro student James H. Meredith virtually wherever he goes on the campus.

Deputy U.S. Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach said the list of names he turned over to Dean L. L. Love, director of student activities, Wednesday includes "less than 10" students "on whom we have competent evidence," or evidence that would be admissable to a court of law.

During the rioting and shortly afterward 20 students were detained by federal marshals for questioning.

Dean Robert J. Farley of the university's law school has recommended in a speech before 200 students that students involved in the riot Sept. 30 which caused two deaths and several hundred injuries be expelled.

"Southern gentlemen do not act in such a manner," Farley said.

He said the school still is in danger of losing its accreditation because of "political interference" on the part of Gov. Ross R. Barnett.

"This is your future and your education that is at stake if the university and the law school lose accreditation," he said.

The Army pulled out another 6,600 troops Wednesday and switched command of the forces guarding the campus against further outbreaks of violence from Lt. Gen. Hamilton H. Howze to Brig. Gen. Charles Billingslea.

The move completed the withdrawal of troops being held in reserve at Columbus, Miss., and left only 300 or 400 of the troops that had been held in readiness at Memphis, Tenn. It left about 5,700 troops in the Oxford area, including about 2,000 Mississippi National Guardsmen.

Highway Finance Bill OK'd

Washington (AP) — Senate-House conferees agreed Wednesday on a compromise $2.3-billion highway financing bill — one of the must items before final adjournment.

The Senate bowed to the House on the major point in disagreement — funds for the A-B-C or primary, secondary and urban systems in fiscal 1965.

The House voted $975 million for the grants to the states for these roads in that year. The Senate, which had specified $950 million, took the House figure.

Both branches had agreed previously in their original bills on $950 million for 1964. It is $925 million currently. The A-B-C roads are on a 50-50 matching basis.

The House agreed to take Senate allotments of $32 million to complete the inter-American highway in Central America and $850,000 to finish the Rama road in Nicaragua.

Also accepted were Senate provisions:

—authorizing $800,000 for engineering studies and planning surveys on a highway program in Alaska.

—increasing parkway funds for fiscal 1964 from $16 million to $16,550,000.

—authorizing an additional $18 million in the next 3 years for public lands highways.

Coloradoan Is Guilty Of Car Fatality

A Lancaster District Court jury Wednesday found Arlyn D. Rowan guilty of motor vehicle homicide in connection with the April 24 death of Otto E. Hagemoser of Seward.

The jury of 10 women and two men returned the guilty verdict after nearly 6 hours of deliberation.

Mr. Hagemoser, 51, died after being stuck by a semi-trailer truck driven by Rowan on U.S. 34 about 10 miles west of Lincoln.

Mr. Hagemoser was working as a flagman on a construction project at the time of the accident.

Rowan, 29, of Fleming, Colo., was released on bond by Judge Elmer Scheele pending a motion for a new trial.

The conviction carries a maximum penalty of 6 months in jail and a $500 fine or one to 10 years in the State Penitentiary.

Record Corn Per Acre Forecast Again Hiked

. . . Latest Estimate Placed At 58 Bushels

By The Associated Press

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's monthly crop forecast tacked another bushel-per-acre on to Nebraska's corn crop prospects Wednesday, already tabbed a record per acre yield.

The new forecast called for a 58-bushel-per-acre crop or 292,668,000 bushels. This compares with a forecast of 57 bushels per acre or 287,622,000 bushels a month ago. Last year's crop amounted to a record 51.5 bushels per acre or 279,439,000 bushels.

Record Sorghum Crop

The current forecast didn't cover winter wheat, already in the bins, but a record forecast of 59 bushels per acre or 89,916,000 bushels was made for sorghum. This also is above the month-ago yield forecast of 58 bushels per acre and total yield of 88,392,000 bushels. It is sharply above the 1961 crop of 50.5 bushels per acre or 62,750,000 bushels and barely below the record yield of 63 million bushels harvested last year.

Indicated yields per acre on both corn and sorghum would set Nebraska records.

The old record on corn was last year's 51.5 bushels per acre. The old sorghum record was 50.5 bushels per acre set in 1960 and duplicated last year.

Both corn and sorghum came along well in September, State-Federal Statistician A. V. Nordquist said in Lincoln in explanation of the increase in yield estimates.

The hard freeze in western Nebraska early in September heavily damaged corn in that area, but the bulk of corn acreage is in eastern Nebraska where freezing weather held off and September rains checked the menace of dry weather earlier.

"The irrigated yield is outstanding and dryland corn in eastern sections is setting records in many localities," Nordquist said.

The past 30 days have been "unusually favorable," he added.

Nebraska's dry bean harvest was forecast at 1,200 pounds per acre or 816,000 hundredweight, compared, somewhat below the 1,600 bags or 1,088,000 hundredweight forecast a month ago.

The state's sugar beet crop was forecast at 14 tons per acre or 1,064,000 tons, the same crop forecast a month ago. This is slightly below the 1961 yield of 14.9 tons per acre and production of 1,155,000 tons.

Fall crop potatoes for Nebraska were estimated at 150 hundredweight per acre and a crop of 1,125,000 hundredweight. This also was down from the 200 hundredweight per acre and total yield of 1,500,000 hundredweight forecast a month ago. The 1961 crop was 210 hundredweight per acre and 1,722,000 hundredweight total production.

Worker Falls 9 Floors To Death At University

A 22-year-old construction worker plunged some 70 feet to his death Wednesday from the top floor of the University of Nebraska's Twin Towers Dormitory.

William R. Manning of 3240 No. 48th was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Elizabeth Hospital at 9:40 a.m., Deputy Sheriff Kenneth Nelson said.

Work on the women's dormitory was shut down for the day as a result of the accident. Installation of safety lines around the roof edge was reportedly ordered.

Mrs. Manning was hospitalized for shock.

Manning was employed by Lippert Bros. Construction Co. and was atop the building.

"He was in the process of 'striping forms' and was throwing 50-pound bundles of iron rods over the side," said superintendent M. S. Landers.

Ready To Throw

"He called to Joe Whitlatch, of 1024 E, who was on the ground, and told him to clear the area because he was ready to throw the rods down," continued Landers.

"He had thrown two bundles down when a piece of wire from the third bundle caught on his leg and pulled him off with it," Landers said.

Marvin VanVooren, who was standing next to Manning at the time, tried to grab for him as he fell, but failed, officials said.

Fell Onto Rod Pile

Manning fell from the 9th floor onto a pile of the iron rods and then tumbled backwards off of the pile and onto the ground, it was reported.

Another workman saw it happen and ran to the far side of the building and yelled for someone to call an ambulance.

The ambulance arrived and took Manning to the hospital.

Manning is survived by his wife, Linda, and their 19-month-old son, William R. Jr.

Manning and his family are from Bessemer, Ala. Funeral services will be held there, Mrs. Manning told officials.

State College To Let Negro Coed Enroll

Charlottesville, Va. (AP)—The University of Virginia agreed Wednesday to admit the first Negro to one of its branch colleges after she completes proper registration procedures.

The girl, Hazel Ruth Adams, 17, left a federal district court hearing immediately to go to the university's offices.

She is seeking admission to the university's new Patrick Henry Branch College in Martinsville.

If she is admitted, it will be the first classroom integration in southside Virginia, an area with a heavy Negro population and strong anti-integration sentiment.

Miss Adams, from Cascade in Pittsylvania County, filed suit charging she was denied addmission because of her race.

The university contended she had not registered properly but said Wednesday it was ready to admit her.

Miss Adams' attorneys said they had received direct denials of admission because "it was not in keeping with the customs of the area."

Negroes have been admitted to the university campus at Charlottesville for a number of years. None has been admitted to the school's 4 branches.

Fee Boosted

New York (AP) — The traditional 6-cent fee required of all newly appointed city officials when they take oaths of office was boosted to 15 cents.

City Clerk Herman Katz said the reason for the 6-cent fee has been lost in antiquity. But the reason for the increase is to help meet clerical costs. Katz said some 7,000 or 8,000 such fees are received annually.

Rains Helped Raise Crop Prospects 1%

Washington (AP) — The Agriculture Department reported Wednesday that needed moisture in September helped to raise 1962 crop-production prospects nearly one per cent over the volume indicated a month ago.

The department's October crop report estimated the total crop volume at 105% of the 1957-59 average, compared with 104% forecast in September. This compares with 106% last year and a record, 108% harvest in 1960.

Some of this year's drop from the previous two years reflects retirement of cropland under the government's emergency wheat and feedgrain program. It is designed to reduce production because of big surpluses in government hands.

The report said freezing temperatures generally held off until the usual seasonal date. Damage to crops was said to have been limited chiefly to those planted late in northern plains states.

Crops which showed production increases over last month included corn, durum wheat, flaxseed, rice, sorghum grain, hay, soybeans, peanuts, sweet potatoes, tobacco, sugar cane, sugar beets, peaches, pears, cranberries and pecans.

Crops showing slight declines included spring wheat other than durum, dry beans, potatoes, hops and apples.

Bruning Airfield Will House 300-Acre Cattle Feeding Lot

A 300-acre feed lot with a capacity for 10,000 head of cattle will be installed on the Bruning Airfield.

The State Department of Aeronautics Wednesday announced it has entered into a 10-year leasing agreement with the Seabord Cattle Company, a subsidiary of the Seabord Allied Milling Corporation of Boston, Mass.

The Aeronautics Department will get $46,000 in rentals over the life of the lease, plus 50 cents on each of the first 10,000 head of cattle. After that, the company will make a smaller payment for each head on a declining scale.

The lot will include pens, feed bunks, wells, fencing and installations to house a feed mill, a veterinary building, an office shop, horse barn, bunk house and 3 residences. Construction will be undertaken immediately by the company.

No present buildings on the 1,700-acre airfield will be used.

The announcement said operations will begin as soon as the installations are completed.

'Boom To Community'

"The industry will be a boom to this community as it will provide a new payroll and market for crops and feeder cattle. It is hoped that its products and by products will bring other industry to this area," the announcement approved by the Seabord Cattle Company said.

Gordon Gossman, agriculture aviation representative for the State Aeronautics Department, described the feed lot as "a first class setup."

He said it will be the first such operation on land owned by the Aeronautics Department.

Land Bank Federation Chooses Chadron Man

U.S. Opens Travel Office

London (AP) — Bad weather Wednesday hampered the official opening of the first United States foreign travel office in Britain.

Flying from Washington for the ceremony, U.S. Travel Service Director Voit Gilmore was unable to land and he radioed a message of regret while circling over the fog.

Then he flew to Frankfurt where a U.S. foreign travel office opened late last year.

North Platte Crash Claims 4 Lives

North Platte (AP) — A car-pickup truck accident 5 miles north of here on Nebraska 83 claimed its 4th life late Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Alice Beltz, 66, Arnold, died in a North Platte hospital of injuries suffered in the crash Tuesday night.

Mrs. Bessie Hafler, 60, and Mrs. Rowena Dunn, 71, died Tuesday night and the Rev. Forest Woodman, 37, died early Wednesday. All were from Arnold.

State Safety Patrolman John Nelson said the Rev. Mr. Woodman was the driver of a car which was in collision with the pickup driven by Ivan Halstead, 37, of Gandy. Mrs. Hafler, Mrs. Dunn and Mrs. Beltz were riding with the minister.

Two other passengers in the Woodman car were injured. They were Franklin Scott, 39, and Ilde M. Blixt, 49, both of Arnold. Halsted was reported in serious condition.

The Arnold group was returning from a Baptist church convention in North Platte.

The deaths raised the Nebraska traffic death count to 291 for the year compared with 255 one year ago.

Bonds Go Over Big

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

The 13,898 to 6,315 victory for the new $12 million school bond issue for Lincoln is not a reflection of advance thinking on the subject. There is always an uncertainty preceding any election and no one we know of was sure that the bond proposal would pass, much less by such a majority as it received. The fact is that some people were apprehensive over the possibilities of this issue because considerable conversation was heard ahead of time about people opposed to the program because taxes were simply already too high.

School officials, therefore, and citizens who worked in favor of the bond issue have cause for pride in the final Tuesday results. It is doubtful that the Tuesday vote, however, can be given much meaning in terms of any other public programs. There is no question about it; the public considers schools in one light and everything else of a public nature in quite another light. There is not another governmental subdivision in existence that enjoys the success and confidence expressed by the people of Lincoln in their school system. Not any other subdivision could live with the requirement for the schools that they receive 55 per cent approval rather than a simple majority for bond issues.

Schools Stand Alone

Thus, it would be a mistake to conclude from this election that the idea of taxes being too high is a false idea. The idea, of course, is a personal one to begin with and the burden of taxation is only what each individual considers it to be. Nor is it certain that a majority of people do consider taxes too high but a lot of people believe that such is the case.

Because this school bond issue carried is no sign that any other public program calling for a tax levy would succeed. A bond issue half that size or much less on any subject other than schools could well fail tomorrow. And the schools could possibly come back to the voters, and possibly will, in a decade or less and meet with success on still a fourth bond program.

A number of things account for this. First of all, schools are considered a necessity. They are something like food to a family. The family can say "no" to a new car, a new home and a host of other things but it can't say "no" on food. The general public feels it can say "no" if it wants to on parks, streets, other public buildings, etc. It can turn down other public programs and still get by, even though it might be granted that it would be a fine thing if such programs could come to pass. But education, at least through high school, is considered as vital a thing as life itself. And in these days, this is certainly the truth for the uneducated youth would have a very poor life. At least, his chance at a successful life would be so small it could hardly be measured.

The American people may not fully understand all the complicating factors in today's world but they realize that such factors are present. They know that this nation occupies a position of world leadership and that the success or failure of the Western world's way of life is largely in the hands of the United States. The United States is not the sole guardian of the Western world but its role is significant enough to be the determining factor. If the U.S. failed, there is little doubt that communism would inherit the earth and probably be in power for a good long time.

To compete in this sort of situation, the United States must fully develop its intellectual potential. It must, first of all, have an elementary and secondary system of education that starts our young people out on the right track. This system must prepare as many as is possible for further achievement in the institutions of higher learning throughout our land.

The people of Lincoln realize this as well as the fact that Lincoln itself is in a competitive situation. We do not care to have the children of other parts of the nation running far ahead of our own. There are, therefore, both national and international forces at play and causing widespread public support of our schools.

But this realization of the importance of a good educational system would be to no avail if other factors were not given equal consideration. The Tuesday vote shows that Lincoln citizens are confident of the system we have if it is given the tools to work with. It does not want a good system but lack faith in our officials to provide it. Our people want good schools, they believe they have had them in the past and they believe they will be given conscientious and efficient administration in the future.

Clear Vote Of Confidence

This is a responsibility upon school officials in which they should have great pride. It is a tribute to the Board of Education and Superintendent of Schools Steven N. Watkins and should be an incentive to them in the years ahead. The entire school situation in Lincoln is without doubt one of the strongest points the community has. It would be hard to find another community with the record of progress and willingness to sacrifice that Lincoln has written for itself over the years.

Equal To Any Task

The Madison Avenue boys, the world over, are equal to any situation.

Latin is the official language of the ecumenical church conference presently underway in Rome. The ad writer for a car rental agency in Rome, instructed to do a snow job on the visiting clergy, came up with this:

"Liberissima optione novae automobiles, quancumque amplitudine, sine numere minimi itineris circumvehendi locantur"—to which he added as a timely note, "Aequis atque apertis condicionibus . . . automobiles novissimi locantus." All of which is to say, "a wide selection of new cars of any size is for rent without fixed mileage. Brand new cars for rent for fair and advantageous terms."

This is an ad which will get the priesthood off its feet and behind the wheel. It shows that while the Romans themselves failed to make it they left a heritage in a language that can solve a knotty present day problem. The only oddity of it is that the ad would really confound Vergil. But it probably made the shade of Nero strike fist in palm and lament that he was born a few thousand years too soon. How much better would the burning of Rome have been had there been automobiles, especially those red fire trucks. Unfortunately, those old Romans can't have another chance. The opportunity is ours.

It would be a relief to have the commercials done in an alien tongue. We're tired of, "Look, mom, no cavities." We could take it with more composure if the little imp danced up and said, "Vide, mater, non cavitationes! And it might be diverting to have a Marcus Aurelius dressed in his regal toga advising a young senator to quit using that "greasy kid stuff."

Middle Getting Crowded

The middle of the road in the United Nations seems to get more and more crowded as the membership of that world body grows. Latest addition is Algeria which has now firmly established itself as a non-aligned member. We never cease to marvel at those nations which take this course of action and we find it impossible to understand their reasoning.

The Algerian premier's remarks before the U.N. certainly had more of a Red than an independent tinge as he voiced a number of things in terms of slogans popularized by the communists. And from Indonesia came a plea for an East-West meeting on Berlin. The only trouble with such a plea is that it implied fault on both sides. When are the neutrals going to realize the only thing you can negotiate with Russia is what is already yours?

U.S. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson has said that communism in the American continent is not negotiable and the attitude should be extended in a great many areas. In disarmament, in nuclear bomb testing, in Berlin and in just about every conflict between East and West, the Russians have consistently entered obstructions. The minute the West approaches the minimums set by Russia, the Reds change their terms to something unacceptable.

There really is no middle road in the present world struggle because the basic issue is freedom and you can't be noncommittal on this. If you are not for, you are against it. A policy of non-alignment is an encouragement to the aggressive tactics of communism because it implies even a degree of approval. Russia would be perfectly happy with the rest of the world if it simply did not disagree. She would be happy to have the United States simply on the grounds that we were not fond of her or approved of her but would enter no objection to her taking over.

Missing A Lesson

World War I occupies many pages of modern history but the current generation remains singularly indifferent to it and uninformed about it. To the rank and file of Americans it was a "nothing" war. This is one of the most tragic misconceptions of the day. One of the most useful tasks would be a general study of that war with special emphasis on the assumptions, presumptions, misconceptions and human folly which contrived to bring it about.

The subject as it is covered in the Encyclopedia Americana tells enough for those who do not care to make a full fledged study. It will sweep away many of the basic assumptions which are being relied upon today to exclude the possibility of a World War III.

The general conception that modern war is too devastating to produce a victor or to permit a resort to it was as firmly held before 1914 as it is today. The spirit of international accommodation was solving most of the crises. The months preceding World War I were notable for good feeling between France, Germany and England. Then Sarajevo happened and blunders, misconceptions and bad timing took charge. Russia ordered a mobilization as a demonstration to discourage war. The British presumed it would be able to reach an accommodation with Germany. But when Germany ordered a partial mobilization as a counter demonstration it was dismayed to find that its military had only a plan for general mobilization. It also realized that it could not win a war if it awaited full mobilization everywhere. The French presumed that Germany could not negotiate a general sweep down the Baltic plain and, therefore, wrongly planned to meet a war thrust by a drive into Alsace-Lorraine. Belgium assumed its neutrality would not be violated and refused to take a full defense posture. In those swift and critical hours before the shooting started logic collapsed and events took over. It could again.

White House Deal Cut Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON —While Senate leaders were battling to restore the House slashes in foreign aid, President Kennedy undercut them by settling the issue behind their backs.

He made a secret deal with Louisiana Congressman Otto Passman, arch-foe of foreign aid, to accept a compromise bill restoring $296 to $300 million of the house cuts.

Apparently, the President feared his Senate leaders were fighting a losing battle and couldn't salvage more than $300 million anyway.

As it turned out, the Senate restored every penny of the original foreign aid authorization. This put the senators in a strong bargaining position to deal with Passman.

Passman gave no inkling of the secret settlement when Senate and House conferees gathered behind closed doors for the showdown. He launched into an arm-waving tirade and threatened to stay there arguing against foreign aid "until the snows melt."

When he saw that his forensics were having no effect on the senators, however, he apparently decided he couldn't browbeat them into giving up more concessions and played his trump card. He calmly announced that the President had agreed to accept a restoration of only $296 to $300 million.

Result: The senators gave up their fight and agreed to accept Passman's figures, which were almost $494 million less than the Senate had voted.

Meanwhile, Holland received another jolt from his fellow southerner, Mississippi Sen. John Stennis, who turned on him savagely for sponsoring the constitutional amendment outlawing the poll tax.

Flush-faced, Stennis threatened to retaliate by using his position on the Senate Appropriations Committee to block Holland's pet projects. The senator from Florida, who has always voted with the Southern block, could hardly believe Stennis would do this to him.

"I have never been treated so shabbily," he complained to Senate Leader Mike Mansfield.

Indeed, Stennis has dropped his usual dignity and decorum since the Mississippi race riots. He hastily rushed an investigator to Oxford, Miss., for instance, after learning that his Mississippi colleague, Sen. Jim Eastland, was sending investigators to dig up dirt on the federal forces there.

In fact, the whole Mississippi delegation has become unruly and rebellious. Mississippi Congressman Jamie Whitten refused to accept a single Senate amendment to an agriculture appropriations bill.

Falling Spatial Junk Brings New Dangers

NEW YORK — There was such indignation in the U.S. recently when a hunk of vintage Vostok, hot as a two-dollar Mercury, imbedded itself deep into a street in Milwaukee. The junk landed with a fiery thud in Kosciusko Street, according to reports, and the cops who retrieved it carried it around to Elm Street so they could write out their report.

Our side killed a Cuban cow a couple of years ago with a direct hit from a missile which we had destroyed in the wild blue yonder after a Canaveral take-off. A much likelier target might have been found in that People's Paradise, but we had to settle for Bossy.

We have now received from a somewhat offended government of the Union of South Africa at least five bits and parts of the Atlas missile that nudged astronaut John Glenn into orbit last February. There may be more debris sent back from odd places after the eight-story Atlas that boosted Wally Schirra on his way and joined him in orbit breaks up and comes back into the jellied atmosphere in which we live.

Astonishingly, after all we've read and written about the way spatial junk incinerates itself like meteors as it falls back, certain hunks of it have proved impervious to the rigors of that strange passage. A six-by-four foot sheet of wafer thin aluminum skin of Glenn's Atlas clanged into a remote section of South Africa's Veldt. None the worse for wear, it slashed down like a six-by-four foot guillotine blade.

It had made at least one and a half orbits, tagging along behind Glenn, before dropping back. With it descended an unscathed helium bottle, a large and only slightly charred cover off one of the Atlas' fuel tanks and other bolts from the blue, all of which must have hit with the impact of a point-blank barrage from the U.S.S. Missouri.

Well, now, this presents a problem. Let us say that a two-by-four steel widget, or even gadget, remnants of the Atlas that did so much to insert Wally Schirra into not only orbit but the history books, crashed down through one of the onion domes of the Kremlin during a reception of that beloved old Bolshevik, Raul Castro. Where would that leave us? Indeed, where would that leave Raul?

There are now five assorted Vostoks and dozens of bits of Russian space material Out There. One of these days most or all of this junk will scrape agaist the thicker air and come tumbling back.

A famed U.S. atheist who helped create the atomic bomb was asked some time ago in his native Cambridge, Mass., what he had been doing lately. The nuclear physicist answered that he had been praying. His startled friend asked, "You? Why?"

"I'm praying that a meteor doesn't fall by chance on Moscow or Washington," he said. "A thing like that could touch off World War III before anybody got around to comprehending that it was an assault by nature, not by man."

JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.

To Your Good Health

Dear Doctor: I had what I thought was an ingrown hair on my neck. It would fester every month or so for several years. I got fed up with this and went to my doctor who is reportedly a good surgeon. He said it was a sebaceous cyst and that it might get serious. I agreed to have him remove it at our general hospital. He said he had to go very deep to remove all traces. This "cyst" was no more than a pimple. How come? What happened to those good "old" doctors who would do the same in their office? — T. D. P.

Dr. Molner

The good "old" doctors are with us, and some good new ones, and all of them, when things are liable to get messy or dangerous, would rather work in a hospital with equipment and help at hand, than in an office.

And believe me, you can get into an awful mess with a sebaceous cyst if it is a deep-seated one.

You write that it was "no more than a pimple," but your doctor said it might be a cyst and it mght be serious, and he turned out to be exactly right on both scores.

Obviously it was an infected cyst, too, from your own report that it continually festered over a period of years. It was more than just a "pimple," all right.

I can't help thinking that your hind-sight opinion is pretty unfair. Your doctor—or some doctor—could have lanced the thing to let it drain. Lancing a cyst is not effective. We know from long and sometimes sad experience that the only way to get rid of one is to remove it entirely.

If you leave part of cyst in, it just seals itself off again, and fills, and in time forces an opening which temporarily relieves the pressure again — the process you called "festering."

If your doctor had simply lanced the cyst, or had removed just part of it, the trouble would return. Then you would have been warranted in complaining that he didn't cure the cyst.

As it was, he had the wisdom to recommend a permanent cure, and he was shrewd enough to realize that he would probably have to go rather deeply. So he took you to the hospital.

Dear Dr. Molner: What causes hiccups, and is there any way to cure an infant of them? And what makes a person yawn?—M.H.

Hiccups aren't unusual in a baby. Pick him up, burp him, then give him a little water. It's a spasmodic reaction, usually from some trivial irritation, such as a bit of air in the stomach.

A yawn is just one of a number of modifications of breathing, others being laughing, coughing (incited by bronchial irritation), sneezing (from nasal irritation), crying, sighing, and hyperventiliation, this last being overly rapid breathing, usually due to some psychic cause.

All of them, you notice, involve drawing in or expelling the breath, hence a "modified movement of breathing." Causes of a yawn are fatigue, boredom, or something just the thought of yawning — seeing somebody else yawn.

Dear Dr. Molner: Should a child with chicken pox be permitted to be out? We have a neighbor whose two-year-old child has the disease (she claims very slight). This woman does not believe in doctors except in extreme emergencies. I think it is risky to let the child out. Why give chicken pox to others? — MRS. G. C.

As long as the spots are moist and weepy, chicken pox is contagious and the disease can be transmitted to others. After the spots become dry and scaly, the danger is past.

The child should be kept quiet while the disease is active. After all, this is a virus infection. Rest will save energy for the system to fight the disease.

☆ ☆ ☆

Dear Dr. Molner: I lost several pounds on a diet but had difficulty not re-gaining the weight because I enjoy my snacks. Instead of a snack I now eat crushed ice but am concerned whether this is bad for the teeth or stomach. — G. D.

There's no harm, as long as you like cracked ice. Quite a novel idea.

Dear Doctor: What might cause extreme dryness of the mouth during night hours? — S. C.

The usual reason is breathing and/or nasal obstruction. And as we grow older the amount of saliva decreases.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Truth Serum

Lincoln, Neb.

Your Saturday, October 6, editorial, "Callan, Beermann Contrast," is, in my opinion, one of the finest pieces ever presented to the people of this state to read. You have embodied in this editorial all of the most pertinent points that must be regarded by the intelligent voter in our state who is vitally interested in its future.

While I personally am most appreciative on the piece for its content, I am sure that even those who are confirmed Beermann supporters will have food for thought after reading it.

The forces for better government have been given a shot of truth serum by your words.

New Tourists

Lincoln, Neb.

It is interesting to note that Governor Morrison's tourist program has resulted in substantial gains in visitations to all of Nebraska's many tourist spots. This, of course, is what State GOP Chairman Robert Denney calls "failure."

Denney might be well advised to look at the Scotts Bluffs National Monument visitations, for instance. Since Governor Morrison's program has been in effect, hundreds of additional visitors have visited that beautiful site. These are additional hundreds of people who are now going there because of Governor Morrison's promotion program compared to the dribble of visitors when Fred Seaton was secretary of the interior and in charge of that national monument.

As a matter of fact, Fred Seaton had a great opportunity to do many, many things for Nebraska as interior secretary, and didn't. Does a leopard change his spots?

School Needs

Lincoln, Neb.

In answer to the October 6 response from "Not Angry" challenging my October 3 letter, the writer does not agree with me concerning federal aid to education. He feels that public schools should receive federal aid and that private and parochial schools should not. He may at this time even represent the majority viewpoint. However, this does not make him right and me wrong. Many people believe as I do—that it is discrimination to provide federal aid for one school system alone. This injustice the private and parochial schools cannot survive, and no one can make their destruction acceptable with the pious mouthing, "The public schools are open to all."

All citizens have equal rights and all pay taxes to make up the funds for federal aid. Some people prefer to educate their children in private or parochial schools, and the fact that these people are in the minority does not justify denying them their equal right to federal aid for their schools. The days of the majority riding roughshod over the minority, and telling them to like it or lump it, are a thing of the past. Minorities are beginning to stand on their two feet and demand their rights—for instance, the American Negro.

The writer noted pressure brought by the Omaha Roman Catholic Archdiocese and the Lincoln Roman Catholic Diocese in an effort to defeat a bill sought by public school board members and public school administrators. I believe that in days to come, more congressmen will be hearing not only from our leaders but from individual Catholics with their Irish up. We are tired of getting the short end of the stick.

Apparently "Not Angry" couldn't care less if private and parochial schools go down the drain. But does he mind when he says: "If it is the Catholic position that they pay only for the support of Catholic schools, it would mean the destruction of the fundamental public school system." I do not accept his premise, but in any case, it is not applicable. Catholics have always supported their own and public schools as well.

The same generosity of spirit does not apply, however, to the public school advocates, educators and administrators who even now are trying with cold-blooded, deliberate intention to sound the death knell for private colleges by forcing an end to federal aid to these institutions.

Public schools are fine and render a tremendous service to our country. The same thing can be said of the other schools in question. Many schools are so crowded that some classes go to school only half a day. There is a real need not only for more public schools but for other accredited schools, be they Catholic, Lutheran or Adventist. The writer says "Nothing doing" in reference to federal aid to these schools. I say he is entitled to his opinion. I am not angry, either, but I do have the courage of my convictions and enough left over to sign my name.

Proud Tradition

Lincoln, Neb.

It is within the American tradition that any man, though he be born in a log cabin, may aspire to and win the presidency of the United States. Why is it, then, that in a city named in honor of a man who did just that, it is impossible for any but the independently wealthy to hold the office of mayor? Without substantial outside funds, what man could support himself on the token $1,020 a year given our mayor?

Let's make it possible for any qualified Lincolnite to hold that office.

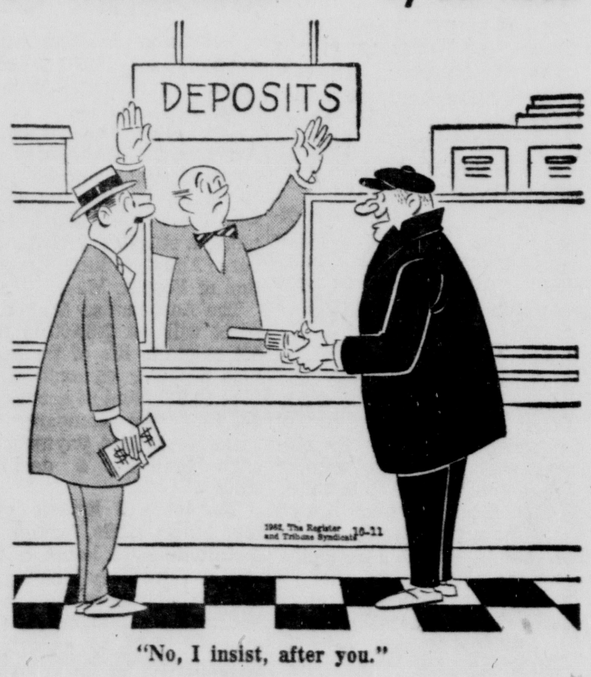
Off THE RECORD — By Ed. Reed



"No, I insist, after you."

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Majority Of Elders Has Few Health Problems

By ROBERT PETERSON

There are only a few really good geriatric stories. And I guess it's inevitable that the best ones will keep popping up at intervals attributed to different celebrities.

When I became interested in the subject of aging 20 years ago I clipped a newspaper story about the late FDR who was suffering a siege of grippe. After an examination his physician commented, "Well, I can't make you any younger."

At this FDR was said to have quipped, "That's all right with me—just see to it that I continue getting older." It struck me as a fine story.

But in the intervening years the story with only slight variations has been revived featuring a succession of seniors, including Herbert Hoover, Bernard Baruch, Ben Gurion, and Konrad Adenauer. Now that ex-President Harry S. Truman has reached the venerable age of 78, I note that one of my fellow columnists has resurrected the tale in his honor and this apocryphal bit of dialogue is now supposed to have transpired between the Man of Independence and his physician at the Medical Center in Kansas City, Mo.

A fine report from the National Opinion Research Center in Chicago states, "Many medical practitioners, hospital administrators, visiting nurses, and family social workers would have us believe that most older people are very sick.

"But the 16 million people 65 years of age and over in the U.S.—and those relatives and friends to whom they turn in a health crisis—give a different answer.

"Most older people, as many as 8 or 9 of every 10, say, 'I've got a lot of things wrong with me, but I'm not really very sick.'"

So let's not grow pessimistic and start fearing that we're doomed to encounter disastrous illnesses in the years ahead. Chances are we'll be able to get around handily on our own steam, and with only minor aches and pains, well into advanced years.

During the recent Medicare debate I expressed the wish that elders would be a little less quick to bestow such labels as stupid, ignorant, bird-brained, dimwitted, dishonest, and senile on those with whom they disagree.

But a woman writes: "Do you wonder why we oldsters call a spade a spade? It's because we have lost that hypocritical veneer so necessary in one's money-making years. We are after truth, and when we encounter ideas and arguments that are just plain stupid, ignorant, and dimwitted we are not afraid to say so."

During my recent vacation I observed that nearly half the vacationing motorists traversing the ribbons of asphalt lacing the Rockies and national parks were either driving trailer-car combinations known as "campers," with cooking and sleeping quarters behind the front seat, or regular autos with a trailer behind or camping gear lashed to the top. Its obvious traveling Americans have discovered that the best way to save money while sightseeing is to tote your own food and lodging.

If you would like a booklet "Retiring to Mexico" write to this column c o The Lincoln Star enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents to cover handling costs.

Physical Education Meeting Slated

Several of the nation's outstanding authorities on physical education will highlight the 1962 conference of the Nebraska Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation next month at the University of Nebraska.

More than 350 Nebraskans, including students, physicians, teachers and professors of physical education, and other persons interested in health and recreation will attend on Nov. 9 and 10.

Special programs for professionals and students have been arranged for the 31st annual convention at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education.

The outstanding speakers:

—Dr. Karl Oermann, professor of education and director of teachers and physical education, University of Pittsburgh.

—Dr. Fred Hein, director of the Bureau of Health Education, American Medical Association.

—Dr. Henry Shenk, chairman of the department of physical education, University of Kansas.

Trucker's Death Laid To Attack

North Platte (UPI) — A Grand Island truck driver collapsed and died at a truck stop here early Wednesday.

The man was identified as Charles Bickford, about 56 years old.

He was a truck driver for the Nebraska-Illinois-Colorado Express. The headquarters of the firm are at Denver.

Another driver said Bickford stepped from his truck and collapsed as he walked across the parking lot. Death apparently was caused by a heart attack, authorities said.

Order Baby Sitter To Forestry Camp

Los Angeles (UPI) — William (Billy Boy) Tocher, the 16-year-old baby sitter who fled to Utah with an attractive Pasadena, Calif., mother, was ordered sent to a juvenile court forestry camp Wednesday for "rehabilitation."

Superior Judge Bernard S. Jefferson denied a motion for dismissal and found Tocher in violation of his probation. The case will be brought up Dec. 7 when the probation department will review his rehabilitation and determine if he should be returned to his parents or held in camp.

Mrs. Carolyn Huntoon, 24, his companion to Salt Lake City, quietly heard a deputy probation officer testify that Tocher confessed having intimate relations with Mrs. Huntoon on two occasions before the pair left for Utah.

The petite housewife and mother of two took the stand briefly but declined to testify after Judge Jefferson explained she did not have to if she felt her testimony might tend to incriminate her.

Darrell K. Gumm, deputy probation officer, said Billy Boy admitted the two affairs and said they took place in her home when he came to sit with her children.

Mrs. Huntoon and Billy Boy were picked up in Salt Lake City nearly a month after they left Pasadena.

She pleaded guilty to contributing to the delinquency of a minor in Salt Lake City and was given a 6-month suspended sentence. She has since reconciled with her husband, Frederick, 33, a truck driver.

Defense Dept. Capitulates; Will Surrender Moon Study

Washington (AP)—After more than 3 years of secrecy, the Defense Department has capitulated and will give congress an Army study on how to put men on the moon by 1965.

The report, called "Project Horizon," has lain in government files since June 1959, despite congressional efforts to pry it loose.

It has had 10 separate security reviews by three different government agencies, and, in the process, was trimmed down from 4 volumes to two.

Nevertheless, it was given one more going over before being handed to the chairman of the House Committee on Science and Astronautics, it was learned Wednesday.

Arthur Sylvester, assistant secretary of defense, said in a letter dated Oct. 3 that "an unclassified version of this study" will be provided the committee chairman within a few days. Sylvester added:

"We are double checking to insure no information remains in the report which would be of value to a potential enemy of the United States."

Wednesday, the office of Chairman George P. Miller, D-Calif., said the report has been received from the Pentagon.

Sylvester wrote to Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., chairman of a House government information subcommittee, who had written to Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara Sept. 19 asking him to justify keeping the report under secrecy wraps.

An unclassified version of the study was requested well over a year ago by the late Rep. Overton Brooks, D-La., who was then chairman of the house Science Committee.

The Associated Press obtained access to the 'Project Horizon' study a month ago and reported that it was "a virtual blueprint for landing men on the moon in April 1965," and setting up a permanent outpost by 1966. The AP said the report "apparently has gathered dust in government files."

Seek Mental Patient In Killing, Stabbing

Moline, Ill. (AP)—Iowa and Illinois authorities Wednesday were searching for a former mental patient accused of beating a teen-age girl to death and stabbing her mother 13 times with a pair of scissors.

Sought was Harold Griffith, 34, who has a wife and 5 children at Rockford, Ill. He recently lived at Davenport, Ia.

"We believe Griffith may still be in the area," Davenport Detective Capt. Elmer Peterson said.

Stolen Car

"We think he may be driving a 1961 brown Chevrolet that was stolen Tuesday night about 12 blocks from where we found his own car abandoned."

Peterson said no motive had been established for the death of Judy Dryoel, 16, or the stabbing of her mother, Mrs. Mildred Dryoel, 45.

The girl's body was found in an upstairs bedroom of a house where she lived with her mother. The body was wrapped in a blanket and hidden behind a bed.

Mrs. Dryoel was stabbed in a Davenport park, and identified her assailant as Griffith, police said. She was reported in satisfactory condition at a Davenport hospital with stab wounds in the neck and left arm.

A warrant charging Griffith with murder in the death of the girl was issued by Moline police. Griffith was charged by Davenport police with assault with intent to commit murder in the stabbing of Mrs. Dryoel.

Griffith is on probation from Winnebago County, Ill., from a burglary and larceny conviction, and also has been convicted of drunkenness and parole violation. He once was committed to the East Moline Mental Institute.

Weapon Found

Peterson said the weapon used in the beating of the girl has not been found.

"We think the girl was killed Tuesday afternoon, possibly after she repulsed advances by Griffith," Peterson said. "Then Griffith apparently waited at the home for Mrs. Dryoel to get off work, took her for a drive in his car and stabbed her with scissors he had taken from the house."

JUDY DRYOEL

HAROLD D. GRIFFITH

Mrs. Dryoel had dated Griffith on 4 other occasions in the past two weeks, Peterson said. He said Griffith had not been dating the girl.

Peterson quoted Mrs. Dryoel as saying she and Griffith spent about an hour in the house before they went for a drive.

"The girl's body was hidden behind the bed, and Mrs. Dryoel never saw it," Peterson said.

Mrs. Dryoel said Griffith took her to Credit Island in the Mississippi River near Davenport to see a boat, and the stabbing took place there.

Mrs. Dryoel told police she ran from the car to a service station. Police were called and found blood and a pair of scissors at the scene.

Mrs. Dryoel and her husband, Harry Dryoel, are estranged. He heard a report of the attack on his wife, left his Rock Island home and drove to Mrs. Dryoel's home in Moline to check on Judy, officers said.

When he did not find her, he called police, and they discovered the battered body behind the bed.

Police who found Griffith's abandoned car recovered Mrs. Dryoel's purse in the front seat.

Officers said Judy had quit Rock Island High School two weeks ago and moved in with her mother. Judy's brother, Walter, 19, and sister, JoAnn, 17, live with the father in Rock Island.

Police quoted Mrs. Dryoel as saying she had talked with Judy by telephone Tuesday and warned her not to let "Red" into the house.

Griffith, who has sandy-colored hair, is nicknamed "Red."

Officers said a doughnut shop in Davenport where Griffith worked was broken into Tuesday and about $100 was taken. Griffith's landlady in Davenport said Griffith had not been there for about two weeks.

80-Day Cooling Period Ordered For Stevedores

New York (AP) — Federal Judge John F. X. McGohey Wednesday ordered an 80-day cooling-off period in a contract deadlock between steamship firms and the International Longshoremen's Association.

His temporary injunction was a routine followup to last week's 4-day dock strike which ended when President Kennedy invoked the Taft-Hartley Law.

At issue in the contract dispute are the shippers' demands for a cutback in the cize of longshoremen's labor crews.

Meanwhile, the ILA turned its attention to a proposed boycott by its 75,000 members of ships that engage in trade with Soviet Russia or Cuba. Leaders of the union have announced that dockers beginning Monday will refuse to load or unload such ships along the Atlantic and Gulf coasts.

CORONER'S JURY CLEARS SHAPELY ACTRESS IN DEATH OF FRIEND

Los Angeles (UPI)—Shapely actress Saundra Edwards Wednesday was cleared by a coroner's jury of criminal responsibility for the fatal shooting of her boy friend when he assertedly threatened to kill her.

The coroner's jury of 5 women and two men returned a verdict of "justifiable homicide" after deliberating only about a half hour.

The district attorney's office had decided against filing a criminal complaint pending the hearing. She admitted killing bit actor Tom Gilson, 29, the father of one of her 3 children.

Weeping as she testified at the inquest, Miss Edwards said she was in fear of her life at the time.

The stylish beaches of Estoril are 20 minutes north of Lisbon and are loaded with Pretenders.

"You can rub elbows with former King Umberto of Italy," said a friend of mine. "Or the Count de Paris, Pretender to the Throne of France."

"Will they want to rub elbows?" I asked.

"Everybody is very democratic," he assured me. "You may run into Mme. Lupescue. The lady King Carol of Rumania married on his deathbed."

You can't beat that kind of high life. So I took a taxi down Gold street (where the money exchanges are). To Black Horse Square where you catch the electric railway to Estoril.

☆ ☆ ☆

Estoril is beautifully gardened — a great park-like formal garden runs through the middle of it.

The best place to rub elbows is the terrace of the Estoril Palacio Hotel. I ordered a coffee and asked the waiter who was elbow-rubbing.

"The royalty is at the beach at this time of day," he said consulting his watch. "At 1:30, we get an Italian Count. He descends from a Spanish title conferred on one of the captains of Cortez.

"For luncheon, there are always a few hazy titles from Hungaria.

"But the best time is at night when they come from the Casino."

☆ ☆ ☆

The Estoril Casino has a restaurant and floor show and a gaming room. The gambling is French bank. It is done in a sort of library silence. I never could get the amount of the chips.

Everybody is in evening clothes. And nobody talks. The winning is announced by a little silver bell rung by the dealer.

"You must show your passport to enter," said the waiter. "Portuguese are allowed to gamble. But not if connected with the Government.

"Anyone having to do with public funds cannot gamble. Bankers, for example, cannot enter the Casino."

☆ ☆ ☆

Portugal has some strict rules on bathing dress. Bikinis are forbidden. And up to 5 years ago, men had to wear a shirt top. This was enforced by a beach cop, the cabo do mar.

"The law has been relaxed a great deal. Especially here at Estoril," said the waiter.

The Estoril Palicio was a famous spy hotel of World War II.

"The Germans stayed at the Palacio. The Allied spies stayed at the Aviz in Lisbon," said the waiter. "But they met — and pretended not to see each other — at the Casino."

☆ ☆ ☆

It is excellent country to pretend in. The Atlantic rolling in, warm and blue, on white sand beaches. The sun sparkling on the flower gardens.

The Pretenders love it and live there year round.

The waiter brought a bica —coffee served in a cup instead of a little glass. It is served very strong and black. A Brazilian coffee. It is only drinkable when you fill the cup a third full of sugar.

He assured me the two men at the bar were German barons. "I knew them well during the war."

After awhile I heard them speaking English and went over. They said they were vacationing from Detroit.

"We heard the place was stiff with Kings and Queens," they said. "But all we run into are American tourists."

Grange Urged To Seek Information

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

A Dawes County Road Improvement Committee told Grange members attending their 52nd annual session here Wednesday that you can't complain about Washington spending until you first check what goes on in your own court house.

Reporting practices not in line on purchases and records in Dawes county the group laid down guide lines for the interested citizen to use in checking road building activity at the county level.

Wm. Colwell of Hay Springs, committee chairman recommended three guides in determining if county commissioners were fullfilling their required duties on purchases, and records.

(1) Check the county clerk's office for the annual inventory that the county commissioners must file on a form provided by the state that shows the cost, date purchased, present value and expected length of usage of equipment in their department.

(2) Check list of expenditures published in the local paper of county transactions and then check the vouchers and invoices on items of interest at the court house.

(3) Check the last state auditor's report made on your county.

The Dawes County committee has recomended that more attention be paid by county commissioners to the annual county-wide public meeting that is to be held by state statute to discuss plans for road building.

They also recommended that more counties follow a practice already employed by some counties of having a county engineer.

Colwell said that every piece of equipment should be worth a card in a file at the court house that would show serial numbers on equipment and its cost.

"It is easier to avoid misuse of marked property," he added.

The Dawes county group report that after an 18-month study they would recommend the use of county equipment on a county wide basis in preference to each district having individual equipment.

Karachi (UPI) — Malayan Prime Minister Tengku Abdul Rahman arrived for a 10-day visit to Pakistan.

Callan Urges Research Center Here

Democratic congressional candidate Clair Callan of Odell recommended Wednesday that a proposed national rura electrification research center be located in Nebraska.

He referred to a proposal during the current congressional session for location of such a center somewhere in the middle west.

"It is a well known fact that the University of Nebraska has a high ranking agricultural experiment station; a strong agricultural engineering department; a center for continuing education serving the midwest; a nearby nuclear generating plant with large potential for research, and a history of accomplishment in rural electrification research extending over a period of 50 years," Callan said in a statement.

"In a very real sense Sen. Norris is considered the "Father of REA! He provided the leadership resulting in the first rural electrification research in the USA..

"What more fitting tribute to this great statesman than the location of a rural electrification research laboratory in Nebraska."

AFL-CIO Opposes 4-Year Term For Governor

Scottsbluff (AP)—The Nebraska AFL-CIO convention wound up Wednesday with delegates going on record as opposing proposed constitutional amendments which would provide 4 year terms for governor and legislators.

The convention also opposed an amendment which would make area a factor in redistricting and another authorizing the so-called "Missouri Plan" for selecting judges.

The convention opposed a report of a presidential railroad commission which proposed a cutback in firemen, switchmen and others.

It called for medical care legislation similar to the King-Anderson bill and urged that it be expanded to cover all those presently 65 and over not included under Social Security.

The convention went down the line with previous endorsements of Nebraska political candidates made by the Committee on Political Education (COPE) last June. They are headed by Governor Morrison.

The AFL-CIO voted to meet next year in Hastings. It named Jimmy Selko of Lincoln to the board of directors from the First Congressional District replacing Kenneth Lewis of Lincoln.

Delegates rejected a committee proposal to hold the 1963 convention in Lincoln. The nod went instead to Hastings for next year's session.

Meany Calls For Buildup Of Economic Strength

Las Vegas, Nev. (UPI) — George C. Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, Wednesday urged a buildup in the economic strength of the United States to match the country's military might.

Meany, speaking at the 44th national convention of the American Legion, said labor shared with the Legion "basic common ideals and aspirations to keep America strong."

He suggested delegates join with labor to "help build the kind of economic strength that will match our military strength and make us completely secure."

In his talk, Meany said the nation's economic health must be considered along with its military strength if it is to maintain its national security and survive.

"We must face the hard fact that in this last decade, we have had 4 recessions, and each one of these recessions has started from a higher plateau than the last," he said.

"Each recovery from a recession has been more shallow than the previous one."

Gen. David M. Shoup, commandant of the U.S. Marine Corps, spoke to an afternoon session of the convention, now in its second day, with thousands of Legionnaires crowded into this desert gambling resort for the occasion.

Shoup, who returned from a tour of the Pacific earlier this month, told a news conference prior to his address that the Marine Corps "has never been more ready than they are now to do what has to be done."

He said his impression of the situation in South Viet Nam after his recent visit there was "there is more know-how than bow-wow," referring to the fact that there is much ability and power but not much fighting.

Harry Advocates National Lottery

Las Vegas, Nev. (UPI) — Former President Harry S. Truman came to this gambling capital Wednesday and advocated a national lottery controlled by the federal government to pay off the national debt.

"When the federal government gets behind it and everybody knows it is absolutely fair, it isn't gambling," he said. Truman is here to address the 44th annual American Legion Convention Thursday, and promised a news conference his speech would not be a commentary on politics. He said it would be a minor "State of the Union" message on the condition of the country.

"Take a look at the national lottery in Mexico," he said. "It almost pays for running the government—it's not the same as a crapshooting game."

Truman emphatically backed up his statement earlier this week about Nevada being the "black spot of the nation," and said "that is exactly correct and you had better leave it alone," referring to further questions.

On gambling in general, Truman said "there was never any poker games in the White House, only at Palm Beach and Key West.

It was a 25-cent ante and $1 limit, and when you lost $50, you got $5 out of the pile. They don't do it that way here."

The former president gave a terse "no comment" when asked if he believed gambling in Nevada was dishonest.

St. Elizabeth Intern Housing Considered

A preliminary discussion concerning construction of housing facilities for resident interns was undertaken by the St. Elizabeth Hospital Advisory Board Wednesday.

Secretary John C. Whitten reported that the noon meeting was "quite routine," but that the subject of intern housing was soon to become a possible future program.

Governor 'Sorry Ike Could Not Stay'

Gov. Frank Morrison said Wednesday he was sorry former President Dwight Eisenhower "will not be able to spend longer than one hour in Nebraska."

"I don't think one hour at an Omaha airport will give him a chance to become acquainted with the problems of Nebraska, the policies of the present administration and the great opportunities that lie immediately ahead," Morrison said.

Eisenhower stopped for an hour at Eppley Airport in Omaha Wednesday to meet with Republican gubernatorial candidate Fred Seaton and other state GOP leaders.

"I have been a resident of Nebraska for 35 years," Morrison said, "and every day I've learned something new about the state. As governor for 22 months, every day some new development, some new problem and some new opportunity has occurred.

'Can't Know As Much'

"Regardless of how distinguished or great a person may be, he cannot possibly know as much about a state, its problems and its opportunities as the people who live there and who come into daily contact with the problems they and they alone must solve."

When asked what his opinion was then about President Kennedy's current barnstorming tour of the Midwest in support of Democratic candidates, Morrison replied:

"Nebraska is altogether different from any other state in that it has a one-house Legislature, and the governor must implement his administration with non-partisan legislation."

'Meaningless Appeal'

"Therefore," Morrison continued, "an appeal to partisanship as such in selection of a Nebraska governor whose legislative program must be implemented by non-partisan legislators is a futile and meaningless undertaking in my opinion."

The governor noted he had given Seaton an admiral's commission to bestow upon Eisenhower, and that he was going to award similar commissions later this week upon Republican Sen. John Tower of Texas, and Democratic Secretary of Agrilculture Orville Freeman who are scheduled to appear at the Grand Island National Cornpicking Contest.

Morrison pointed out that the Cornpicking Committee requested Freeman's visit to Nebraska, not him.

Motion For New Trial Overruled

Omaha (AP) — Three federal judges have overruled a motion for a new trial brought by the Nebraska AFL-CIO in the legislative redistricting suit.

The 3-judge court decided recently not to take action on the reapportionment issue at this time but retained jurisdiction.

The judges are Harvey Johnsen, presiding judge of the Eighth circuit court of Appeals; Chief District Judge Richard E. Robinson; and District Judge Robert Van Pelt.

Gov. Morrison To Appear At NU Forum With Seaton

Gov. Frank Morrison Wednesday said he will appear at a University of Nebraska convocation Oct. 29 with Republican gubernatorial candidate Fred Seaton.

Morrison said he understands Seaton has declined to enter into a debate with him on state issues.

But, the governor said, "even under the limited conditions set by my Republican opponent, I think the appearance has the value of giving the student body at the University an opportunity to hear a public discussion of state government."

Morrison said he will answer any questions asked by any student attending the convocation.

"When I was asked by the University of Nebraska Young Democrats and Student Council President Don Burt if I would appear at a student convocation, I said I would like to have them invite my opponent to appear with me in a joint debate on important state issues," the governor said.

Git Up And Go Still Strong In Nebraska Communities

If you scratch the surface of almost any Nebraska community, you will find a layer of pioneering togetherness and "git-up-and-go" as strong today as it was 75 years ago.

In general, that's the conclusion reached at the end of a five-year effort of the Nebraska Community Education Project.

Headquartered at the University of Nebraska, financed by the Carnegie Corporation of New York, and aided by the Nebraska Department of Education and Nebraska State Education Association, the project ended as one of the most ambitious "learn to help yourself" efforts ever undertaken in the state.

Five years ago, 4 Nebraska communities were singled out as likely places to find out just how much school envolvement in community affairs could aid the community.

They were Sidney, York, Syracuse and Mullen.

While the younger generation might not realize it, most community betterment projects during our pioneering days were the result of meetings and rallies at the schools and by people who took great interest in the education of youth, according to Dr. Dale Hayes, project administrator and chairman of the University of Nebraska department of school adminisrtation.

The working team of the project was a number of University of Nebraska graduate students who taught part time in the community schools and enlisted the support of local community leaders, in particular the local school board members themselves.

Community accomplishments included:

Sidney

—Started the Panhandle Players, a local theater;
—The development of an adult education program in art and family recreation;
—Helped to establish Sidney's Economic Development Committee;

York

—The successful school bond referendum after three straight defeats;

Syracuse

—The study of an electric power problem;
—The establishment of a garment manufacturer in the community;
—The successful search for an unpolluted water supply;

Mullen

—The successful finishing of a hospital unit and the acquisition of two young physicians;
—The beginning of a history project by the Culture Committee;
—The writing of Mullen's history by the senior high school class and its publication.

Trains Hit In Fog; 34 Persons Killed

Warsaw (AP) — The Chopin Express speeding at 60 M.P.H for Vienna in a fog rammed a derailed express train, killing 34 persons and injuring at least 62.

The engineer of the Chopin clamped the brakes but could not halt the express. It was named for the 19th century Polish composer Frederic Francois Chopin who gained his first fame in Vienna.

There were fears that the death toll would rise.

One Hungarian

First reports said with the exception of a Hungarian woman all the dead were Poles. Four Hungarian diplomats on a trade mission were among the injured.

Polish state railway officials launched an investigation into the possibility of sabotage in the freak double-train accident.

The crash occurred about 90 miles southwest of Warsaw.

Official Account

Officials gave this account:

The Balkan-Poland Express bound for Warsaw from Bucharest, Sofia and Budapest jumped the tracks about 9 p.m. when a rail broke. Eleven coaches left the rails, two of them jutting onto the adjoining track for southbound trains.

The Chopin Express loomed out of the fog at a mile-a-minute clip as passengers from the first train were climbing out of the shattered coaches and trying to recover their luggage.

"The driver applied the brakes only yards before hitting the northbound train," a spokesman said. "He was thrown from the cab, breaking his leg. His assistant was killed. The electric locomotive was a total wreck."

Suspicious

The splintering of the rail under the first passenger train aroused suspicions of sabotage.

The Chopin Express carries coaches from Moscow and Warsaw to Prague, Vienna and Rome.

Poland's primate Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski and 10 Polish bishops took the same train four days ago on their way to the Roman Catholic Ecumenical council in Rome. The Cardinal's office said no high churchmen were aboard the train.

Deshler Senior NU Delegate To National Meeting

Dale Pohlman, a University of Nebraska senior from Deshler, will serve as official Nebraska delegate to the national conclave of Alpha Tau Alpha, honorary fraternity, at Kansas City, Mo., this week.

Pohlman is president of the Nebraska chapter of Alpha Tau Alpha, national honorary fraternity for men majoring in vocational agriculture. The Nebraska chapter was the second one organized in the United States, and was granted a charter in 1925.

In addition, 10 University seniors, all majors in vocational education, will take an active part in the meeting and in the national student teacher conference also being held in connection with it, according to Dr. James T. Horner, assistant professor of vocational education at the College of Agriculture, and chapter advisor.

University students taking part include:

Bob Abraham, North Bend; Ron Cool, Callaway; Paul Imm, Silver Creek; Alan Jorgensen, Curtis; Fred Krausnick, Wauneta; Tom Mattson, Chappell; Lee Reed, Mitchell; Dennis Siekman, Waverly; Marvin Sitorius, Gothenburg and Gary Vogt, Ravenna.

Mariner Margin Larger

Washington (AP) — Mariner II will miss Venus by 20,900 miles instead of the earlier announced 9,000, but its scientific equipment will still be able to scan the planet thoroughly as it passes.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration, announcing this Wednesday, said the added distance was picked up by an overcorrection in Mariner's speed when signals were transmitted to it Sept. 4 to zero it in more accurately on the cloud-shrouded planet.

The velocity was increased by 47 miles an hour instead of the intended 45. This will put it 20,900 miles from Venus — plus or minus 3,000 miles — when it passes by Dec. 14.

But despite the error, NASA emphasized the new path still lies well within the pipe-shaped target area of 5,000 to 40,000 miles from Venus.

It is "well within the region where the scientific planetary experiments are expected to be very effective," NASA said.

Mariner II was launched on its long space voyage from Cape Canaveral, Fla., on Aug. 27, aimed 10,000 miles from the surface of Venus. The planned Sept. 4 correction in its flight path followed and by Wednesday it had hurtled more than 7¼ million miles from the Earth.

It is traveling at a speed of 7,500 miles an hour with relation to the Earth, or 65,000 miles an hour with relation to the sun. This is faster than the Earth rotates around the sun.

Dr. Homer E. Newell, director of NASA's Office of Space Sciences, said nothing in the findings provides a reason for not proceeding with manned space flight.

Day Expects Budget To All But Balance

Washington (UPI) — Postmaster General J. Edward Day said Wednesday he expects the new postal rate increase bill to all but balance the Post Office Department's budget.

The bill will increase all classes of postal rates and also provide salary increases for federal workers. It has been passed by Congress and is awaiting President Kennedy's signature.

Among other things the bill will increase the cost of mailing a first class letter from 4 to 5 cents. The measure is expected to yield about $600 million a year in new revenues.

Day told a news conference that after pay adjustments have been put into effect, he expects the department's revenue to come within $150 million of its expenditures. He called that "about as close to breaking even as the Post Office Department can expect to get."

Day pointed out that the bill includes a $375 million-a-year public service allowance to cover the deficit in handling mail by charitable institutions, small town newspapers, operation of small town post offices and rural routes.

Support Growing For 5 Power Areas

Support is growing for a proposal which would separate Nebraska into 5 geographical areas served by non-competitive, integrated public power districts.

Gerald Gentleman of North Platte, general manager of the Platte Valley Public Power and Irrigation District, confirmed Wednesday that his district's board of directors is "leaning toward" the so-called 5-area plan.

Loup River Public Power District is also reportedly giving the proposal new support.

Both districts — partners in the Nebraska Public Power System — had previously announced their support of a plan to separate NPPS and dissolve their partnership.

"Breaking up NPPS is still a part of the 5-area plan," Gentleman explained.

"In any event, our board still wants this separation. If there is support beyond that for the 5-area plan, I think our board would lean toward that at the present."

Platte's board has taken no official action on the 5-area proposal, Gentleman said.

The plan was first set out in detail by Lester Trussell of Beatrice, general manager of Norris Public Power District.

It would separate the state into 5 integrated public power service areas containing one district each which would provide generation and transmission in addtion to retail service.

Like Omaha District

The districts would be patterned after the Omaha Public Power District and would be non-competitive.

OPPD and Consumers Public Power District's western system would remain basically unchanged.

The additional areas would include two eastern systems probably divided by the Platte River, and a central district generally in the area of Platte Valley and the Central Nebraska Public Power and Irrigation District.

The 5-area plan runs counter to a strong merger generation and transmission plan generally supported by CPPD and rural districts.

Kuhlman Herd Wins 6 Awards

North Platte (AP) — The Orville Kuhlman herd of North Platte captured 6 of the 10 major awards given at the 10th annual Grasslands livestock Show awards banquet.

The awards included both champion and reserve champion bull and female of the show. The banquet wound up the 3 day annual show.

The Fillmore County 4-H judging team and the North Platte Future Farmers of America judging team received championship honors in their judging classes. The two teams will represent Nebraska at the Western Livestock Show in Denver next January.

New Way Of Farming Due In Farwell Area

By John Decker
District Extension Irrigationist
University of Nebraska

St. Paul — Fifty-five farmers in the Farwell Irrigation District will begin farming a new way when the first irrigation water starts flowing next spring. Irrigation water can be supplied next year to approximately 3,000 acres in the first section.

Changes in cropping practices, use of fertilizers, and water handling will be most pronounced as the new irrigator starts his first season. These changes will involve crop and variety selection, adjustments in farm equipment, the addition of equipment for handling water, the greater use of fertilizers and more intensive production practices.

High yields of high value crops are essential to success in irrigated farming. Corn, grain sorghums, sugar beets, silage crops, irrigated pasture and alfalfa when combined with an effective livestock program may be classed as high value crops. Thicker crop stands, the application of fertilizer according to crop needs, and an adequate water level are essential for high crop yields.

Field equipment for the irrigated farm should favor maintenance of newly-graded land. Of primary importance are the two-way plow, the tandem disc and float. Use of gang plows under irrigation is limited primarily to benched fields where the entire bench is plowed in one direction.

Craftsman Life Insurance Co. Of Boston Agrees To Agent Withdrawal

Officers of the Craftsman Life Insurance Co. of Boston, Mass., have agreed to withdraw their agents from Nebraska "until such time as we can be sure that there is no question that the insurance buyer is being properly protected," State Insurance Director Frank Barrett said in a news release.

Barrett said, "Our investigators have found that certain sales practices of certain agents of this company should be evaluated."

He said a home office representative of the firm will be in Nebraska shortly to discuss the problems which now exist.

Barrett said the Insurance Department had received many complaints and inquiries concerning the sale of Craftsman insurance in Nebraska.

Contact Asked

In another statement, Barrett asked persons who have bought policies from Western Empire Life Insurance Co. of Denver in Nebraska to contact the Insurance Department.

"Last week a complaint was filed by the Custer County attorney against an individual who was arrested upon leaving this office, Barrett said.

He said an investigation by the department showed he was soliciting policies for Western Empire Life, which is not licensed to do business in Nebraska.

The insurance director said officers of the insurance company "have been very cooperative and have advised this department that they were not aware that any agents were attempting to sell their insurance in the state of Nebraska."

BARRETT WANTS INSURANCE REGULATION CHANGES

State Insurance Director Frank J. Barrett Wednesday requested the life insurance industry of Nebraska to propose a change in the state's insurance regulations.

Barrett explained that his office has been receiving numerous complaints regarding misrepresentation by insurance agents.

He said some insurance agents are selling life insurance policies to Nebraska residents with the "misunderstanding" that such a policy is an investment other than life insurance.

"Some agents' selling approach lends itself to make people believe they are investing in an insurance company and not life insurance," he said.

Barrett noted that Illinois and Wisconsin have adopted specific rules dealing with such practices and insurance policies.

"The Nebraska Insurance Department has been handling problems concerning these type policies on a complaint by complaint basis, but a regulation similar to those in Illinois and Wisconsin would ease the enforcement problem," he added.

Chief For Army Hike

Washington (AP)—Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, in his first public speech as army chief of staff, called Wednesday for a bigger army to handle simultaneous crises, without mustering reservists.

Wheeler asked no specific increase over the Army's current total of 960,000 men, but his meaning was clear.

He told the Army Association the Army must be big enough to permit it to deal with "concurrent major crises in widely separated areas of the world without having to recall our ready reservists except under conditions of actual or clearly imminent hostilities."

The army chief of staff said this does not mean the ready reserves are being given a lower priority.

"On the contrary," Wheeler said, "it means that we must have sufficient power in our active forces to support the immediate requirements of national policy without the disruptive fluctuations occasioned by repeated, limited mobilizations."

11 Persons Die In Czech Air Crash

Frankfurt, Germany (AP) — Eight passengers and 3 crew members died in the crash of a Czech airlines plane near the airport at Brno in Moravia, the Czech news agency Ceteka reported. Thirty-one passengers were severely injured.

The agency said the plane crashed while preparing to land. It was flying the Kosice-Bratislava-Brno-Prague route.

CHIANG REITERATES HIS INTENTION

Taipei, Formosa (UPI) — President Chiang Kai-Shek Wednesday reiterated his intention to wrest the China mainland from the communists, in a speech marking the 51st anniversary of the Republic of China.

An estimated 200,000 cheering Chinese jammed the presidential square to hear the 74-year-old president say:

"I personally shall lead our anti-communist people and our armed forces in Taiwan, the Pescadores and Matsu in a united movement against the Chinese Communists.

"Time is auspicious for our national movement," he said.

He urged mainland Chinese to rebel, and said "responsible positions will go to those leading revolts."

The Nationalist invasion of the mainland will bring victory over the communists "without a major war," he said.

Chiang said he has issued "special orders to set up radio stations and organize task forces to keep in constant touch with communist officers and men on the mainland rising against communists."

"The government will never leave anti-communist revolutionaries to fight alone without aid," he said, in pledging immediate air support to "any concrete anti-communist step taken by any organization in any area."

Autumn Bride-Elect

Mr. and Mrs. Orval Docter of Adams this morning are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Janet, of Lincoln, to Larry Lanning, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer M. Lanning of Eagle.

Plans are being made for a wedding on Nov. 9.

Dear Abby

He's In For More Needling

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Our 19-year-old son has just come home on a 30-day furlough after spending 26 months in the Navy.

We almost fainted when we saw him. This handsome, 6 ft. 2 in. boy of ours is tattooed like a circus freak. Both his arms from his shoulders down to his wrists, are covered with flags, scrolls, snakes, mottoes and initials. Even the backs of his hands and fingers are decorated. And to cap it off, each ear lobe has a flower on it! He is the talk of the town. Needless to say, he has received a very cool reception from all his old friends. Long-sleeved shirts can cover his arms, but he can't hide his fingers and ear lobes.

He realizes now it was a foolish mistake, and wants to remove the tattoos as soon as possible. Can it be done? We will pay whatever it costs, and will send him anywhere to have it done.

MOTHER'S PLEA

DEAR MOTHER: Consult a dermatologist (skin specialist) for information on removing tattoos. I'm afraid your son is in for some more needling.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: My wife wants to go to work and I do not want her to. I have a good job and am able to provide her with a very good living, but it doesn't appear to be enough. She wants so many things that our budget will not allow, and thinks if she goes to work she can have more clothes, a better car, etc. We have three children who need her attention and supervision badly. She wants to hire a woman to care for the children. How can I get through to her?

PROVIDER

DEAR PROVIDER: Tell your wife that when you need two jobs in the family you will have both of them. If she will figure in the costs of a substitute mother, the wear and tear on clothes, transportation and the intangible losses from fragmenting the family, she may realize how little ahead she could be.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: I have just come through the ragged agony of ending an affair. Make no mistake, it was "love" on my part, but no love can survive the endless hours of waiting, the tortured jealousy of seeing the man you love with the woman who is lawfully and publicly his.

There never was any talk of his leaving his home, but like any woman in love I believed that eventually I would have him for myself if I gave enough — and waited. This is not true. An affair is only "an affair." Print this, Abby, in the hope that it will spare just one woman the heartbreak of wasting her love and her best years. I'm guilty, too.

BORN TO LOSE

Dear Abby: I am a working wife. My husband works a different shift than I and this is giving me a problem. He comes to where I work and hangs around until I get fired. This has happened to me three times and I don't want to lose the job I now have. I have told him not to call me "early" or else to wait in the car, but he doesn't pay any attention to me. Have you any suggestions?

Dear Working: Evidently your husband isn't convinced you mean what you say. Or else he is deliberately trying to get you fired. Find out what's on his mind, if he has one.

Questions And Answers

Many home decorating trims can be used on clothing. Wander through the department displaying these items in your store and see what marvelous ideas you'll get.

Q. I just love your pretty aprons. I've made every one of them for myself and as gifts. Now I must make a dozen for a church bazaar. Naturally, they must not be too expensive, but also they must be quickly made and very decorative. Do you have any aprons on which the waistbands are eliminated, but which still have a full-gathered look at the waist? What trims, other than the usual ones, can I use? The aprons will sell for a pretty good price but must look a little unusual.—Mrs. T. McC.

A. I like the aprons shown in the illustration. They can be made of cotton in solid colors or in prints and trimmed with decorator tassels or wide meshed fringe. The full waist is done with shir-rite, a flat tape with woven-in cords (also a decorator's accessory). To make aprons, make a ¼-inch hem on sides and bottom. Turn down top 1½ inches. Stitch the shir-rite one inch below the top and pull the cords on the shir-rite for fullness. For ties, cut four fabric strips 18 inches long and 2½ inches wide. Stitch sides and one end on wrong side; pull inside out and stitch to apron.

Q. I am having a deep orange cape made for Winter. Since it has no sleeves, just arm slits, I'll need ¾-length gloves, but what color? I have a black bag and black shoes. Black gloves would look strictly Halloween.—Miss F.M.B.

A. If the cape is for daytime wear, black gloves (calf) are the answer. Don't be concerned about the Halloween look. If the outfit is chic, the effect will be quite different. If for evening, long white calf are quite elegant. But I'd like to offer one other suggestion even though you have black shoes and bag: Dark brown shoes and handbag — particularly alligator or lizard—look marvelous with the deep orange family. Then buy dark brown calf gloves.

Q. Is there a specific reason for separately sewing on set-in sleeves? It's so much easier to sew the bodice and sleeve underarm seam as one rather than to finish sleeves and bodice separately, and then fumbling to insert the sleeve in the armhole.—Miss J.A.E.

A. This is like saying that ready-mix cakes are easier to make than those you start from scratch. Certainly they're easier, but I wouldn't recommend the factory mass-production method if a gun were held at my head. There is a great difference in the finished product, especially in the fit. How can you fit the bodice properly when it's zipped up with the sleeves? The shoulders must be fitted, and the sleeves basted on, before machine stitching to insure a fine look. This cannot be done in one operation. If you practice a bit, you'll no longer fumble, and you'll be proud of your finished garment.

Miss Scott is always glad to hear from her readers, and whenever possible will use their questions in her column, but because of the great volume of mail received daily, she cannot answer individual letters.

For your copy of FIFTEEN GIFTS YOU CAN MAKE, write to Patricia Scott in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover printing and handling costs. The subjects for this fascinating booklet were selected from among Miss Scott's most popular column.

There Is Fun News In Suburbia

PARK MANOR

"Busy" is the adjective to describe Park Manor today. Everything from shotguns, to bridge, to films of Moscow, is in the neighborhood news.

The shotgun was in the middle of the dining room table at the Maj. Forrest Ball home last Sunday evening. Actually, it was a birthday cake centerpiece for the surprise birthday party for Maj. Ball.

The cake, Mrs. Ball's own creation, was a duplicate of Maj. Ball's "over and under" 12 gauge skeet shooting shotgun. A smaller "blue rock cake" held the skeet shooting enthusiast's birthday candles.

Guests for the buffet supper celebration included Mr. and Mrs. William Radenslaben, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hawley, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Barlow, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Stoll, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dean, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Tallman, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Devaney, Maj. and Mrs. Glen Van Zee, and Maj. and 'Mrs. Herbert Engelbrecht.

The films from Moscow will be shown this Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dean. The movies were taken by Dr. D. M. Pace, director of the University of Nebraska's Institute for Cellular Research, while he, Mrs. Pace and their son, Don, were in Moscow the past summer in conjunction with the Institute.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean will entertain 16 couples for the evening of films and refreshments.

Entertaining for the "younger crowd" was on tap last weekend for Mr. and Mrs. Dean and daughter Ruth Anne. Ruth Anne celebrated her 12th birthday with 10 school chums when she entertained at a slumber party at her home last Friday evening. The Pius X football game was the first event scheduled for the evening's celebration, and the game was followed by a pizza feast, then a good night's sleep (?).

Twelve "Park Manorettes" were out and about last Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Lonie R. Charlson. Mrs. Charlson hosted her guests to an evening of bridge and refreshments. This neighborhood group of bridge players meets twice monthly for an evening of cards.

Trying to find out what is going on in Park Manor after a two weeks absence is Mrs. Howard W. Elm. Mrs. Elm recently returned from a trip through New England.

"I don't know about a thing going on in the neighborhood, but I had a wonderful time back East!" said Mrs. Elm.

Mrs. Elm made the trip with her mother, Mrs. A. F. Kosmata of Ord. They went to Connecticut by train, and were met by friends who entertained the Nebraskans at their home for a few days, and then gave them a first-class tour of the New England states.

The friends, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Henry, own the Blue Hills Farm at Wallingford, Conn. Blue Hills is well known among fruit growers for its apple crops and apple exporting. During their stay at Blue Hills, Mrs. Elm and Mrs. Kosmata saw apples being prepared for exportation all over the world.

"Everything was interesting, exciting, and lovely," commented Mrs. Elm, "and this is the best time of the year to visit New England!"

And newcomers to Park Manor are Capt. and Mrs. Van Hunn and their children Becky Ann 5, and David Lynn, 4. Originally from the South, (Alabama and Texas), Capt. and Mrs. Hunn have lived in Lincoln since last December. Before their recent move into Park Manor, they resided at 3838 So. 20th.

KIMBALLCREST

Two Kimballcrest couples, Mr. and Mrs. Burket E. Graf and Mrs. and Mrs. Kenneth B. Clark, are in Omaha today for the beginning of the American Institute of Architect's regional convention.

Mrs. Clark will pour this afternoon at a tea to be given for the architects' wives at Joslyn Memorial Art Museum.

This evening, Mr. and Mrs. Graf and Mr. and Mrs. Clark will be among the guests at a "chuckwagon dinner" to be given by Mr. and Mrs. John Latenser Jr. in Omaha.

Luncheon, Japanese Theme

An authentic Japanese background of lanterns, ornate paper fans and umbrellas, and wrought iron holders filled with chrysanthemums, welcomed the members of the LAFB Officers Wives Club and their guests on Wednesday when the club entertained at luncheon and a fall fashion show.

Greeting the guests were wives of the 372nd squadron, who were official hostesses for the luncheon and who wore Japanese gowns of silk and brocade, many belonging to Mrs. Ben Goza, a native of Japan.

From the left are guest, Mrs. W. D. Marshall; hostess, Mrs. B. H. Bradfield; Mrs. C. C. Riley, whose husband, Col. Riley, is commander of the LAFB hospital; guest, Mrs. J. L. Roberts; and hostess, Mrs. J. M. Olson.

Theater Try-Outs

The Lincoln Community Playhouse has scheduled try-outs for its Children's Theater which will present two shows later this fall.

Mrs. William E. Hill, chairman of the Children's Theater, has announced that any child, six years and older, may try out at 10 o'clock, Saturday morning at the Playhouse, 18th and L Streets. Experience is not necessary, and any child who is interested is invited to attend.

The shows, "A Christmas Carol", and "Mr. Bunch's Toy Shop", will be presented preceding the holiday season.

NCO Wives

The NCO Wives Club of the Lincoln Air Force Base will entertain at an informal coffee at 9:30 o'clock, Friday morning. The coffee will be held at the NCO Club.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♥	1 NT	2 ♠	2 NT
3 ♥	3 NT	4 ♥	Pass
Pass	Dble.

Opening lead—ace of diamonds.

Terence Reese and Boris Schapiro last year won the English Masters Pairs championship for the fifth time in this highly regarded event. Here is one of the hands that contributed to their victory.

The bidding was hard-fought. Reese opened a heart with only 9 high-card points and West overcalled with a notrump. Schapiro came in with two spades—thus limiting his values, since he failed to double—and East bid two notrump.

Reese now bid three hearts, showing a long suit but not too many high-card values, and West carried on to three notrump. Schapiro then bid four hearts with only two small ones, recognizing that the opponents were likely to have a long club suit and would probably make three notrump (which they could). West then doubled.

West led the ace and another diamond, planning to obtain a diamond ruff. Reese took the trick in dummy and played a heart, losing the king to the ace. West thereupon led a low club to his partner's king, hoping to get the ruff, but unfortunately for him, Reese trumped.

Reese then cashed the queen of hearts, catching the jack, and eventually took two spade finesses to make four hearts doubled for a fine score.

West started off all right when he led the ace and another diamond, but he slipped badly when he underled the ace of clubs to get the diamond ruff. The general idea was good, but it wasn't good enough.

After winning the ace of hearts, he should have returned a low spade instead. Had he done this, the contract would automatically have gone down. If Reese went up with the ace, he would lose two spade tricks, while if he finessed the ten, king and return a diamond to score the setting trick.

Actually, the spade return is very reasonable under the circumstances. East had to have the king of spades and king of clubs for his two notrump bid, and, on this basis, the spade return was strongly indicated.

Press Women Will Meet

A program of unusual interest has been planned for the regular fall meeting of the Nebraska Press Women, which will be held Saturday at the Lincoln Hotel in Scottsbluff.

An address on early day newspapers and women in the newspaper field will be given by Mrs. Ruth Johnson of Kimball, and Mrs. Willa Stafford, historian, will trace the history of the Nebraska Press Women's organization.

Following reports by Mrs. Bee Johnson, regional director, and club delegates attending the recent national convention, a tour of Scottsbluff Monument and the Oregon Trail Museum will be held.

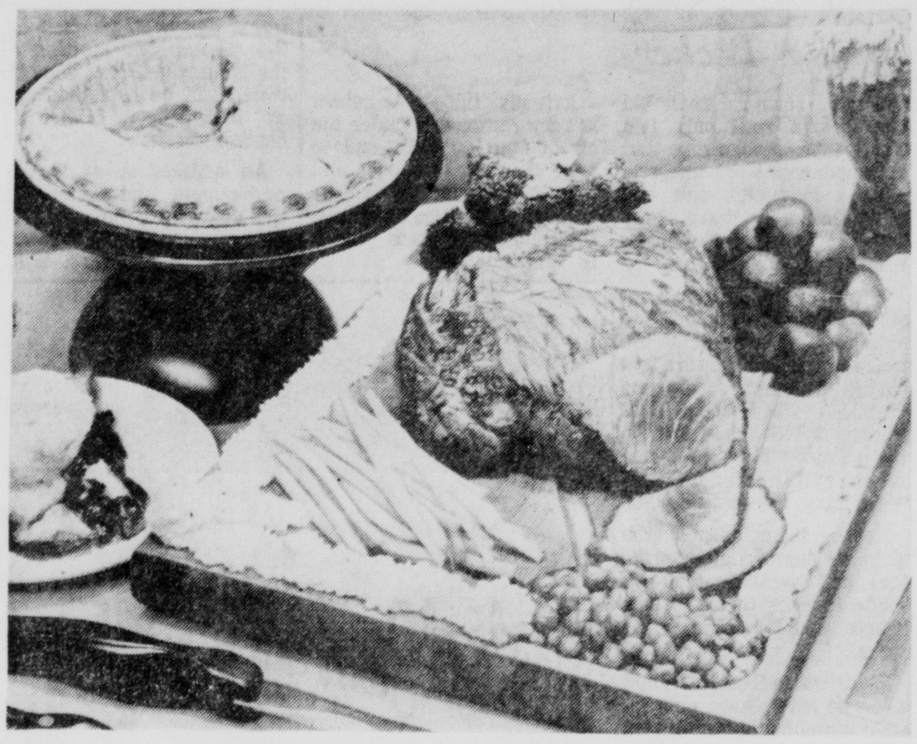
Looks And Tastes Fancy—It's Easy

Here is a dinner that is in and out of the oven in half an hour. It is wonderful for those unexpected guests—or for your lord and master's partner or senior executive. It also is mighty handy to have on hand following an afternoon at bridge club, or a day spent in laboring for your favorite philanthrophy. In fact, it is something extra-special—and easy—for any occasion, and your family will love it.



This harbinger of happiness is a Planked Family Steak which you may buy at your market. When you serve it nestled in mounds of peas, broccoli spears, beets and julienne carrots, surrounded by a snowy ruff of whipped potatoes, it truly is a wondrous sight. No salad is needed. The rest of the dinner can be easy, too — Brown-and-serve rolls and a frozen pie baked to serve with vanilla ice cream will add their bit to the perfect dinner.

This morning, especially for the benefit of the very young and new homemakers, we'll give the step-by-step preparation.

If the more experienced homemakers have never served this increasingly popular Family Steak, you're in for a wonderful new taste treat. It's a 2-inch-thick cut of top or bottom round, sirloin tip, heel of round, boneless chuck, round bone arm chuck or rump, weighing 3 to 3½ pounds boneless, or 3½ to 4 pounds with bone in. Carved in thin diagonal slices, it serves 4 to 6 persons generously—and is perfect for "planned-overs" too!

PLANKED FAMILY STEAK
(serves 4-6)

1 Family Steak, 2" thick
Instant meat tenderizer
1 10-oz. package frozen green peas
1 10-oz. package frozen broccoli spears
1 #2 can small whole beets
1 #2 can julienne carrots
3 cups prepared instant whipped potatoes
2 tablespoons margarine or butter
2 eggs, slightly beaten

Slash fat edges and prepare all surfaces of the meat, one side at a time, as follows:

1. Thoroughly moisten the meat with water—pat the water on from the faucet with your fingers, use a pastry brush or draw a wet fork across the surface. Sprinkle instant meat tenderizer evenly, like salt, over the entire surface of the meat, about ½ teaspoon per pound. Use no salt.

2. To insure penetration and retain meat juices, pierce deeply with a kitchen fork at approximately ½-inch intervals. Meat is ready for cooking immediately.

3. Oil plank and heat. Broil steak 4 to 6 inches from source of heat, a total of 25 minutes for rare, 30 minutes for medium.

4. While steak is broiling, prepare frozen green peas and frozen broccoli spears as directed on packages. Heat beets and carrots and set aside. Prepare instant whipped potatoes; stir in margarine or butter and eggs, slightly beaten.

5. When the steak is broiled to the desired degree of doneness, use a pastry tube and pipe a border of whipped potatoes around the plank. Place the cooked steak in the center of the plank. Arrange the cooked vegetables around, separated by rows of whipped potatoes, and brush the steak with margarine. Slide the plank under the broiler just a minute to brown the potatoes and heat the vegetables.

6. To serve, cut the steak in thin diagonal slices across the grain, holding sharp knife at a 30° angle to the plank rather than perpendicular. Three or more slices make a generous portion.

Bake Your Own Canape Rolls

(Makes 10 dozen tiny canape rolls and 1 loaf)

2 cups milk
2 teaspoons salt
3 tablespoons sugar
1-3 cup butter
1 packet (1 oz.) dry yeast
¼ cup warm water
6 cups sifted flour
Oil
¾ cup finely chopped herbs — tarragon, parsley, chives
1 egg
¼ teaspoon salt

Scald milk, remove from heat and stir in salt, sugar and butter. Dissolve yeast in warm water. When milk cools to luekwarm, add dissolved yeast and 3 cups of flour. Beat in thoroughly with an electric mixer until blended. Add remaining flour to make a stiffish dough and knead lightly to mix well. Return to bowl and brush with the oil. Let rise in a warm place till double in bulk. Punch down and knead in chopped herbs. Grease four cookie sheets and a loaf pan. Divide dough in two and knead one part till smooth. Place this in the loaf pan and brush top liberally with glaze made by whisking the egg and salt together. Leave to rise to a good shape above sides of tin, then bake in a 425 degree oven until it taps hollowly on the bottom, about 30 minutes. Meanwhile, pick small pieces of dough off remaining half and roll into small balls the size of small marbles. Place these in threes, touching, on greased cookie sheets to form small cloverleafs. Brush with egg glaze. All these to rise nearly double in size. Bake in oven with loaf, approximately 15 minutes, till golden brown.

Danish, via Vienna

Kringle is a pastry said to have originated in Vienna before it was "adopted" by Danish bakers.

COFFEE KRINGLE
Makes 1 large cake

¼ cup milk
2 cups unsifted flour
¼ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup (½ stick) margarine or butter
½ cup warm water (105-115 degrees F.)
2 packages or cakes of yeast, active dry or compressed
1 egg, beaten
1½ cups chopped stewed prunes
3 tablespoons sugar
3 tablespoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon grated lemon peel

Scald milk; cool to lukewarm. Combine flour, sugar and salt. Cut in butter or margarine with a pastry cutter. Measure warm water into large warm bowl. Sprinkle or crumble in yeast; stir until dissolved. Stir in lukewarm milk, beaten egg and flour mixture. Stir until well blended. Place in greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 40 minutes.

Combine prunes, sugar, lemon juice and lemon peel. Set aside.

Punch dough down and turn out onto well floured board; divide in half. Roll each half to a 16 x 12-inch rectangle. Place one half on a greased 15 x 10 x 1½-inch pan. Spread with prune mixture. Cover with second half of dough. Seal edges well. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about ½ hour.

Bake in moderate oven (350 F.) about 20 minutes. Turn out of pan at once. When cool, ice with confectioners' sugar frosting if desired.

Everyone Likes A Happy Ending

Almost everyone is on the look-out for a new dessert recipe. As a rule the specifications call for something that is not too heavy after a delicious dinner — or luncheon — something not too difficult, but still a dessert that has all of the requisites that a good dessert should have.

Here is one we think will meet with approval.

COFFEE SOUFFLE

2 envelopes unflavored gelatine
2 tablespoons instant coffee
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
1 cup light cream
5 eggs, separated
1¼ cups granulated sugar
Whipped cream
Shaved chocolate or Brazil nuts

Place gelatine, coffee, salt, milk and cream in top of double boiler, over medium heat; stir occasionally until heated through and coffee has dissolved. Beat egg yolks until thick and light colored adding ½ cup of the sugar. Add egg-sugar mixture gradually to hot coffee mixture and cook until custard coats spoon. Remove from heat and chill until slightly thickened.

Meanwhile beat egg whites until stiff but not dry; gradually add ¾ cup of sugar. Fold this into above mixture and pour into a 2-quart souffle dish with collar. (To make collar wrap 6-inch wide band of buttered wax paper around top edge of dish and secure). Chill from 3-4 hours. Garnish with whipped cream garland and shaved chocolate. Makes 8-10 servings.

JFK For Dems And Progress

. . . SPEAKS IN BALTIMORE

Baltimore (AP) — President Kennedy urged cheering Marylanders Wednesday night to vote Democratic in November and send lawmakers who believe in progress to Washington.

In fiery campaign style, Kennedy said it will be "vitally important" in the next two years for every state to be represented in Congress by men and women devoted to "moving the country ahead."

The strength of the country around the world "depends on the strength of the United States here at home," Kennedy told an audience of 6,500 who shouted their support in Baltimore's 5th Regiment Armory.

Best Way

The best way to assure that strength, Kennedy said, is to elect Democrats.

As usual, Kennedy discarded his prepared text but followed its theme in a vigorous assault on Republicans in Congress and an appeal for a greater Democratic majority.

The Democratic drawing power was demonstrated on arrival by helicopter at a park where an estimated 25,000 ringed 8 square blocks to await him.

Walks Lines

Sidewalks on both sides were lined solidly for virtually an entire 3-mile motorcade to the armory where Kennedy spoke in machine gun style to make up for late arrival on a televised program.

Some estimates of the crowd along the motor route ran as high as 250,000. Officials said several thousand were turned away from the armory because standing room was not allowed.

"This is not merely political cheering," the President said in his now well known urge to elect Democrats to Congress.

Progress

"A strong and vital America is vital to the freedom of the world. It calls for the election of men and women who believe in progress.

"This is the function of the Democratic party and that is the promise of the Democratic party."

"You helped nominate me and I'm proud to come back to this city and state to help elect Democrats," Kennedy said.

Important

He reminded his listeners that Maryland has been represented by two Republican U.S. Senators since 1952 and said that it is vitally important to elect Rep. Daniel Brewster to the Senate "to speak for his sate and government."

Noting that Mayland picks up an 8th seat in the House next year, he said he was hopeful Marylanders would send Carlton Sickles to fill the at-large seat and re-elect Democrats to the 7 other seats.

"In the United States Senate we need someone who will finally speak for Maryland and in the House those who will speak as they have in the past," the President said.

In addition to the crowd of 6,500 at the armory, the President's message went into the home of thousands of other Marylanders through a television-radio hookup.

David Loses Brave Battle To Dystrophy

A young Lincoln lad who spent 10 long years bravely battling the crippling effects of muscular dystrophy succumbed to the disease Wednesday.

He was David Engler, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Engler of 6040 Judson.

David contracted the disease when he was just 6 years old, was soon confined to a wheelchair, and then was hospitalized this past year.

Yankee Fan

A devout fan of the Yankees, the highlight of David's life was a visit to Kansas City last August when the Yankee ball club played the Kansas City A's.

Advised of the Lincoln lad's interest in their team, David was invited to come down to the Yankee dugout and meet his special heroes, Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris.

David's bravery in the face of his personal tragedy and his always-cheerful countenance won him many special friends.

'Treated' By Friends

Six years ago, children of members of the Eagles Auxiliary decided that instead of going out for the usual Halloween "tricks or treats," they would make a surprise visit to David and bring "treats" to their friend.

Two years ago, David was presented with an honorary membership in Scout Troop 57.

Even though he could not participate in the regular activities Scouts enjoy, David truly represented the kind of spirit embodied in that group.

Crates Lost

London (UPI) — Sir Vivian Fuchs, head of Britain's Antarctic survey, complained that 3 crates of valuable geological specimens brought safely to Britain from the Antarctic 9,000 miles away had been lost by a truck driver in the 135 miles between Southampton and Birmingham.

QUADRUPLETS HAVE FUN

The Ullman quadruplets of Clawson, Mich., will celebrate their 4th birthday Friday but probably won't be nearly as exciting as cousin Rose Crapsey's wedding here. The girls, from left, Helen, Catherine, Martha and Marion, did "The Twist" after the ceremony. They served as flower girls.

Detectives Believe 'Tiger Woman' In Phoenix

Phoenix, Ariz. (UPI)—Escaped trunk murderess Winnie Ruth Judd completed her Wednesday night, and police continued to speculate she may be only several blocks from the mental hospital she fled Monday for the seventh time.

"We have no clues," detectives said Wednesday night, "although we are checking on the report she may have gone to Minnesota." One detective familiar with 6 past flights in 3 decades was "of the opinion" she still is in the Phoenix area.

All available enforement officers were alerted to participate in a widespread search. Hospital Supt. Dr. Samuel Wick said Monday he did not regard the so-called "tiger woman" of the 1930s as dangerous.

A report published in a Phoenix newspaper (the Arizona Republic) said the 57-year-old convicted slayer—judged insane in 1932—apparently flew to St. Paul, Minn., after she escaped. Police said they sent a picture and description of the so-called "tiger woman" to Minnesota authorities.

But all airlines serving Phoenix failed to show any person answering Mrs. Judd's description—5 foot, 3-inches, fairly plump and hair tinted red—had taken a flight out of the city. The Republic qutted a "reliable source" as the basis of its information.

But police scoured the city for some trace of the still attractive inmate of Arizona state hospital, who formerly was condemned to die for the 1931 slayings of two women friends. The case attracted national notoriety when one body was dismembered and the remains, along with the body of the second victim, shipped by rail to Los Angeles. She was arrested when she went to pick up the luggage after a railroad employe became suspicious because of the odor fro mthe trunks.

Planners Defer Industrial Action

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The City-County Planning Commission Wednesday deferred action until its Nov. 14 meeting on requested industrial zoning for two tracts north of Cornhusker Hwy.

Merril R. Reller has requested heavy industry zoning for the larger tract, approximately 480 acres fronting 1½ miles on the west side of Hwy. 77 between Arrow Airport and Union Airport.

On the smaller tract, fronting on Cornhusker Hwy between 33rd and 41st and partially used for a trailer court, Reller has requested lights industry zoning.

In its deferring action, the commission said further study was indicated because of several problems presented at public hearing and because of pending court litigation involving the smaller tract.

Both tracts are now zoned for rural and public use except for highway commercial frontage along Cornhusker Hwy.

Reller said the 480-acre tract is the "most God-forsaken land adjacent to the city" and is not suitable for agriculture or houses.

"It's most suitable purpose is heavy industry," he said in pointing out the tract adjoins the western edge of the Syas, Abel and Union Airport land now zoned for heavy industry.

Reller said the smaller tract, on which a $120,000 trailer court is located, is unsuited for residences and adjoins heavy and light industrial and commercial uses.

Airport Approaches Cited

Both the Syas Industrial Tract and the Airport Authority objected to any industrial use of the larger tract that would adversely affect approach zones to Union or Arrow airports.

In other action, the commission unanimously reported to the City Council that high-density apartment (E multiple dwelling) zoning should be extended only to the area between 18th and 26th, L to O.

The commission accepted, in effect, a report by Planning Director Douglas Brogden against high-density zoning between 18th and 27th, J to L.

Last Monday, the Council deferred voting on a rezoning ordinance for the 18th to 26th, L to O, area until advised by the commission of its study of the additional area.

The commission recommended "F restricted commercial" zoning for the northeast corner of 13th and G, proposed as the site for a law office building by Baylor, Evnen, Baylor and Urbom.

Previously, the commission recommended against requested "J central business district" zoning and a report on a more restrictive zoning classification was requested by the council.

Other commission recommendations:

—Approval of "G local business" zoning for northwest corner of 65th, Dudley and Cotner Blvd., requested by Laverne D. Mick.

—Approval of a special permit for an off-street parking lot on the south side of Starr, east of business frontage on 66th, as requested by Bethany Terrace Inc.

—Special permit for community unit plan for Pioneers Heights subdivision at 84th and Pioneers Blvd.

—Approval of final plats of Kelly Heights, 5 lots near 70th and Shamrock Road, and of Richard's First Addition, 16 lots at 73rd and Aylesworth.

—Vacation of alley to permit expansion of Grace Methodist Church at 27th and R. (Action provides for relocation of the alley at applicant's expense.)

Council Of State Units To Organize

The Nebraska Committee for Children and Youth has decided to organize a Nebraska Council of State Organizations, Committee Chairman Mrs. Clifford Jorgensen of Lincoln reported Wednesday.

She said it will be drawn from all organizations which wish to cooperate.

Mrs. Howard N. Kelley of Grand Island, chairman of the former Governor's White House Youth Committee, has been asked to serve as chairman of a committee developing further plans for the council which will be presented at the December meeting of the Committee for Children and Youth.

Purposes of the council would be to:

—Cooperate in reviewing Nebraska's needs for her children and youth; and to recommend appropriate action to the committee.

—Share with each other information about their respective activities regarding children and youth.

—Serve as a channel through which the Nebraska Committee for Children and Youth can work with existing organizations in youth programs.

—To unite to work together on common goals.

Mrs. A. W. Koester of Alliance, a member of the Nebraska Committee for Children and Youth, was named temporary chairman of District V in northwest Nebraska. The committee action came at a Lincoln meeting this week.

Merchandise In Car May Bring Further Charges

North Platte (AP)—Discovery of a quantity of new merchandise in the car driven by two men held here in connection with the abduction and wounding of a policeman and armed robbery, broadened the possibilities for additional charges Wednesday.

Police Chief Lloyd Muirhead said a search of the car abandoned by Frank Lucas, 49, of Benton Harbor, Mich., and Frank Curtis, 56, of Chicago shortly before their arrest in North Platte revealed a quantity of new merchandise, much of it still in the original factory wrappings. He said included were two new clock radios, three new suitcases, two jackets, several blankets, men's trousers and undergarments, men's toiletries and numerous other items.

Muirhead said he also had been informed that the Indiana state police want the pair for burglary.

Earlier Lincoln County Attorney James G. McIntosh, who filed armed robbery charges against the pair Tuesday, said additional charges will be filed when it is learned how Gothenburg police officer Neil McCarthy recovers from the wounds suffered when he was abducted early Tuesday and shot twice.

McCarthy's physician said in Gothenburg Wednesday that McCarthy is holding his own and is in satisfactory condition, but it will be two or 3 days before he is out of danger.

About two hours after passing motorists found McCarthy staggering along a highway, wounded in the back and hip, North Platte officers picked up Curtis and Lucas, for the robbery of a North Platte filling station attendant.

U.S. Charges Russians With Assaulting Attache

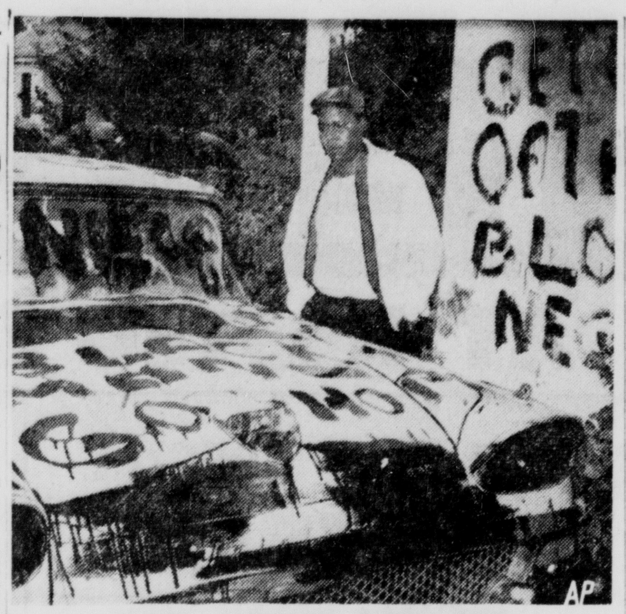
Moscow (UPI) — The United States charged Wednesday in a formal note of protest that a U.S. assistant naval attache expelled by the Soviet Union was "physically assaulted." It also denied he was engaged in espionage.

U.S. Embassy sources said the expulsion of 41-year-old Lt. Cmdr Raymond Smith, "looks very much like an outright reprisal operation" for the ouster of two Soviet United Nations diplomats last month on similar charges.

"The Soviets did the same sort of thing with Smith as they claimed were done against their two citizens," the sources said. "But the outstanding difference was that the two Soviets in New York were involved in purchasing documents."

The Russians, Yevgeny Prokhorov and Ivan Vydrodov, were expelled for allegedly buying defense secrets from U.S. sailor Nelson C. Drummond, who has denied complicity. The Soviet Union charged at the time that the diplomats were manhandled.

The U.S. note said Smith was "physically assaulted and forcibly deprived of items of personal property by allegedly non-official soviet citizens. During this period of illegal detention he was refused permission to communicate with the embassy and was subjected to threats of violence."



CAR, HOUSE DEFACED

Philip Herndon of Sacramento, Calif., awakened Wednesday to find his home and car smeared with black paint. Scurrilous remarks warned the 24-year-old Negro mail carrier and his wife to leave the neighborhood into which they had moved Tuesday.

Soviet, Yugoslav News Agencies Are To Cooperate

Moscow (UPI) — The Soviet Union and Yugoslavia Wednesday continued to forge closer government ties by signing an agreement for cooperation between the official news agencies, Tass and Tanjug.

The Soviet news agency Tass said the agreement was signed here by Tass Director D. P. Goryunov and I. Marinovich, director of Tanjug.

Another Blast

Macao (UPI)—Two big explosions rocked the communist-controlled territories adjoining this Portuguese enclave. The cause of the blasts was not determined. A number have occurred in recent months.

Leftists Near Clean Sweep

Rio de Janeiro (UPI) — A lefist slate headed by Yankee-baiting Gov. Leonel Brizola of Rio Grande do Sul appeared Wednesday to be heading for a clean sweep of key electoral posts in Guanabara state (Rio de Janeiro.)

Brisola was assured of a federal deputy's seat with a 22,000-vote lead over his closest adversary, Amaral Neto, a man backed by the state's anti-communist Gov. Carlos Lacerda.

Brizola's social workers alliance was running 30,000 votes ahead of Lacerda's National Democratic Party.

In Sao Paulo State, however, conservative Adhemar de Barros held a huge lead in the gubernatorial race over Leftist former president Janio Qudros, seeking a political comeback. De Barros had a more than 50,000-vote lead over Quadros with some 30% of the state total tabulated.

Brizola's heavy personal vote was expected under the proportional representation system to bring him several other federal deputy seats for the state. Hitherto, conservatives have held a majority of the state's 21 congressional seats.

Plaster Bang Begins Day For Saratoga Class

The day began with a bang for Mrs. Agnes Dees' primary class at Saratoga School Wednesday.

Actually, it was more like a crash.

Five minutes after the school bell rang, the ceiling in the primary rooms cloak hall tumbled to the floor.

Principal Merle McDonald reported that one of the students told Miss Dees that plaster was "falling on my head."

Teacher Shoos Class

The teacher shooed the class out of the cloak hall, and while she was discussing the situation with the janitor the whole ceiling dropped.

McDonald said he and the maintenance engineer for the city schools checked the other ceilings in the old wing of the building, but there seemed to be "no danger" elsewhere.

The accident occurred in the original section of the school constructed in 1893.

Supt. Steven Watkins' office reported that some $205,000 is allotted in the $12 million school bond issue for the demolition and replacement of the old wing.

McDonald said that age wasn't particularly a factor in the incident, however, since it wasn't the original ceiling which fell.

Too Plastered

The cloak hall had been partitioned from the classroom some time ago, he said, and the second ceiling put in there was too heavily plastered for the support.

Completion of the prospective new wing is not foreseen before 1964, the school maintenance office said.

"We're lucky LeAnne Mondrey (8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Mondrey) noticed the cracking ceiling," McDonald said.

"The accident could have been unfortunate if it had caught the children. As it was, the debris fell only on lunch buckets and coats."

Adult Educators Elect E. A. Austin

Emory A. Austin, director of adult education at Scottsbluff Junior College, has been elected president of the Adult Education Association of Nebraska, it was announced Wednesday.

Dr. Donald Woods of Omaha University was elected vice president, and Harry H. Hilton of the State Department of Education, secretary-treasurer, at the recent state convention.

The directors are Roy Mayer of North Platte, William Lutes of the University of Nebraska Cooperative Extension Service, Francis Haun of Ainsworth and Ed Minnick of Kearney.

Female Entry To Represent Iowa

Belle Plaine, Ia. (AP)— A woman will represent Iowa in the national mechanical corn picking contest at Grand Island, Neb., Friday for the first time in the state's mechanical corn picking history.

Mrs. William Hernik of Belle Plaine won her place in the national contest when she scored 98.3 out of a possible 100 points in competition for 4 row combines in the state contest here.

It was Mrs. Hernik's 3rd year of competition.

11th & E Crash Puts Nielsen In Hospital

A 55-year-old Lincoln man was in good condition at St. Elizabeth Hospital Wednesday night after his car and another auto collided at 11th and E.

Hospital officials said Theodore M. Nielsen of 823 No. 29th complained of injuries to his left collarbone and was admitted for observation.

Police said Janet E. Scebold, 24, a passenger in the other car, driven by Chris Edward Scebold, 22, of 1020 D., was treated at Lincoln General Hospital for a bump on the head and released.

The Scebold car was southbound on 11th and the Nielsen car eastbound on E when the accident occurred, officers reported.

VFW Supporting Expansion Plans

The state Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW) organization has forwarded to state institutions director George Morris expressions of support for expansion programs at the Soldiers and Sailors Home at Grand Island and the Beatrice State Home.

Morris received copies of two resolutions passed by the VFW board at a Falls City meeting.

The American Legion earlier voiced similar support.

Morris sees a need for a 100-bed hospital and additional dormitory housing at the Grand Island institution.

Connecticut Vote Seen As Test Of New Frontier

ABRAHAM RIBICOFF

Democrat Ribicoff resigned as Secretary of Health. Education and Welfare to make the Senate race.

He is running as an administration supporter, and, in particular, as a champion of Kennedy's controversial Social Security medical care program.

Bailey's Home

Connecticut is also the home of Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey, who has been state chairman here for the past 16 years.

Ribicoff and Bailey are closely associated with Kennedy and were among his earliest supporters for the presidency.

Both Kennedy and former President Dwight D. Eisenhower will campaign in Connecticut. Eisenhower carried the state by more than 300,000 in 1956; Kennedy by more than 90,000 in 1960.

Record Margin

Ribicoff won a second term as governor 4 years ago by a record state plurality of more than 246,000.

Normally, voters in this state would be concentrating on the gubernatorial contest between Gov. John N. Dempsey and Republican John Alsop—the contest for control of the state administration.

The gubernatorial candidates usually lead their tickets.

So far, however, the gubernatorial campaign has not generated any real excitement. State issues are blurred. It's a "we-can-do-it-better-than-you" campaign on both sides.

Seek End

Republicans seek to end 8 years of Democratic rule.

Democrats are the majority party for the first time in a gubernatorial election—they outnumber Republicans by more than 26,000—and they are bidding for an unprecedented 12 straight years of power.

Republicans are attacking Dempsey as a week, ineffectual governor. And they hope that Ribicoff's popularity has been eroded by his resignation as governor in mid-term to join Kennedy's cabinet and his subsequent resignation from the cabinet to run for the Senate.

'On-And-Off'

Seely-Brown, a 6-term congressman, says he will concentrate his attack on what he calls Ribicoff's "on-and-off" record.

Seely-Brown is a self-described liberal Republican who is basing much of his campaign on his 12-year "Connecticut first" congressional record.

He is conducting his usual, energetic, folksy, house-to-house drive, giving housewives thousands of pot holders he has used as a campaign gimmick in previous elections.

Unhurried

Ribicoff, always impeccably dressed and barbered, is another vigorous campaigner and handshaker. He covers a lot of ground while appearing unhurried and very much at ease.

With less than a month to go, the Democrats are favored to win a close election.

But there are many imponderables.

Reds Nab 3 Trying To Escape

Berlin (UPI) — East German communist police Wednesday captured 3 refugees trying to swim a border river to West Berlin. In another venture, two 15-year-old East German boys escaped along the border.

The communists fired 60 shots from submachine guns near the frontier in the predawn darkness. Their target was not determined.

Western sources reported, meanwhile, that the Soviets have shifted some of their new supersonic delta-wing jet fighters to bases along the Frankfurt-Berlin air corridor, one of the 20-mile wide strips used by the allies for air access to Berlin.

Pilots and passengers could see the new planes clearly on the apron of the Soviet airfield at Zerbst, about 60 miles southwest of Berlin. One air expert reported spotting one high over Berlin recently.

The sources said the new planes appear to be the twin-jet MIG E166, or "Flipper" as NATO calls it. This plane recently claimed a world speed record of 1,695 miles an hour. But they also could have been the older and slower delta-wing MIG 23 or fishbed, capable of speeds of about twice that of sound.

The fact that the jets were lined up in clear view of western planes indicated the Soviets expected them to be seen. Western sources said the Russians were reminding the Allies of their power to harass Western air traffic to Berlin.

West Berlin police said the 3 refugees caught by the East Germans were trying to swim the Spree river, near the ruins of the old richstag building. A patrol boat raced after them at full throttle and the communists hauled them aboard. There were no shots.

Humphrey Again Rejects Proposal

Humphrey (UPI) — Voters defeated a proposed $125,000 bond issue for school construction.

The vote was 249 to 186 against the proposal. It was the 3rd time the issue had been defeated. Sponsors said the issue may be submitted again.

Auditors Hit Hanna's Action

Washington (UPI) — Federal auditors testified Wednesday that the books of George M. Humphrey's mining firm show more than $789,500 worth of capital improvements "improperly" charged off to the government under a nickel stockpile contract.

Robert B. Brown, head of the General Services Administration (GSA) audit division, said the items were uncovered this year during a government audit of the M. A. Hanna Company's nickel mining operations at Riddle, Ore.

The testimony came during hearings by the special senate stockpile subcommittee into whether the Hanna Company's profits on sales of $67 million worth of nickel to the strategic stockpiles were fair and reasonable.

At the conclusion of the day's testimony, hearings were recessed until Nov. 8, two days after the congressional elections.

It ended the subcommittee's investigation into the Hanna contract—but not the possible flow of more nickel to the government stockpile.

Testimony disclosed that under the contract, Hanna still may deliver 17 million more pounds valued at $9.9 million, despite the fact there is a surplus of nickel in federal warehouses.

GILBERT HUMPHREY

Former treasury secretary Humphrey is honorary chairman of the Hanna Company and its subsidiaries with headquarters in Cleveland, Ohio.

Brown said the audit, which is still underway, has disclosed so far that $789,534.91 was charged off at government expenses instead of being classified as capital outlays.

A government claim for part of the amount — $210,604 — already has been filed. Hanna has not paid it as yet.

Brown said the incomplete audit, covering the years 1957-1960 disclosed that the disputed expense charges were neither "proper nor good accounting." He said they also were improper under terms of the contract between Hanna and the government signed in 1952 shortly before Humphrey assumed his cabinet post under former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Another witness, Louis Brooks, a deputy director of GSA, said the nickel contract has the "highest profit ratio of any contract I've ever seen."

But Gilbert W. Humphrey, the former treasury secretary's son, said the earnings from supplying nickel to the government were fair and reasonable.

Humphrey now board chairman of the firm, said he and his father insisted on a virtually riskless contract because the government was urging the all-out mining and smelting of nickel during the Korean War. He said the price Hanna received for the metal was the lowest for any procured under the defense production act.

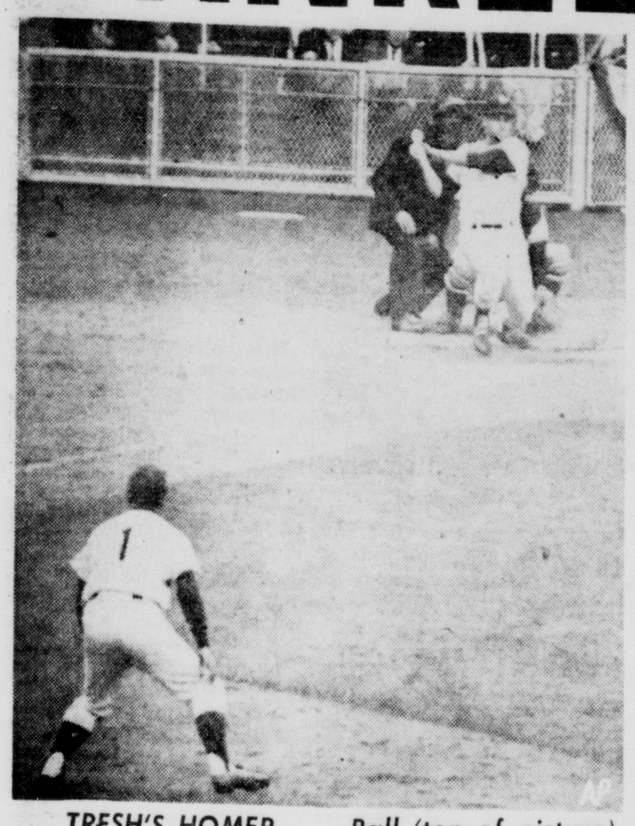
YANKEES GAIN LEAD IN SERIES

. . . Rookie's Homer Stops Giants, 5-3



TRESH'S HOMER . . . Ball (top of picture) leaves bat of Tresh on flight to seats as Richardson (1) breaks for second.

By OSCAR FRALEY

New York (UPI) — Rookie Tom Tresh, a young man born to baseball, hit a 3-run homer in the 8th inning Wednesday to give the New York Yankees a 5-3 victory over the San Francisco Giants in the 5th game of the World Series.

A son of former White Sox catcher Mike Tresh, young Tom, with one swing of a bat his weak-hitting old man couldn't have carried, swept the Yankees into a one-game lead and broke the fighting heart of Giant pitcher Jack Sanford.

But for every loser there's a gay and light-hearted winner and the chief beneficiary of Tresh's wallop before 63,165 roaring fans was lean Ralph Terry. The gentle Oklahoman had lost 4 previous World Series efforts but he took it on from there to "win my first one for the new baby."

Baseball Drama

It was a baseball drama all the way in the alternate sunshine and gloom which flooded mammoth Yankee Stadium.

Old Mike sat in the stands as his 24-year-old son, already the rookie of the year, proved his undeniable right to those pin-stripe Yankee flannels by poling a home run into the right field stands known as Ruthville.

Back in Larned, Kans., just home from the hospital with a new 5-day-old son, Terry's pretty wife watched on television as the young father twice was brought from behind against those rampaging Giants.

And sitting in the stands, too, tears in their eyes as Sanford gamely fought every bad break in the books, were his wife and his mother.

Terry didn't find it easy, for he has a penchant for firing home run pitches —setting a Yankee record in reverse this year with 40—and he did it again this time although in the end he avenged a 2-0 defeat Sanford pinned on him in the second game of the classic. He gave up another one this time to Jose Pagan, a man who struck only 7 all season.

But Tresh more than evened it up for him with that big 3-run wallop when it was all tied up in the 8th, even though the Giants got one back in the 9th.

It was a heart-breaking duel for the chunky Sanford. Because until Tresh knocked him out of the game, he had pitched with his heart as well as his arm to keep those comeback Giants in the running.

Twice the Giants had taken a one-run lead and twice Sanford saw it evaporate—once on a bloop double and a wild pitch and the second time on a topped infield single and a passed ball. But every time he hung in there, pitching himself out of jams such as in the first inning when he battled those Yankees scoreless despite a hit and two errors behind him.

Struck Out 10

And up until that 8th inning, when Tony Kubek and Bobby Richardson delivered back to back singles with one out—and Tresh blasted that game winning homer—Sanford in 7 and one-third innings had fanned 10 Yankee hitters and issued only one walk and 3 hits.

The Giants ran right back at Terry in the 9th when Willie McCovey opened with a single. Big Ralph reared back and fanned Felipe Alou but then catcher Tom Haller ripped a double to left which scored McCovey and cut Terry's lead to two runs.

Then he faced Pagan, the man who put him in a hole with that 5th inning home run—and got him to ground out.

The Giants sent up pinch hitter Ed Bailey but the big catcher, representing the tying run, lofted a shot to right field and Terry finally had the one he wanted for that little son born Friday night.

The stubby Sanford was in trouble in the opening inning but got out of it despite the fact that he yielded a leadoff single to Kubek and his mates butchered two errors behind him.

With Kubek on first, Richardson lashed a double play ball down to Chuck Hiller. But the grand slam hero of the Giants' squaring 4th game victory — known to his teammates as "Iron Hands" because of his frequent miscue spurts—fumbled the ball for an error and both runners were safe.

Sanford aided his own cause then by snaring Tresh's line drive in automatic self defense. He hesitated momentarily before firing to McCovey at first for a double play on Richardson. But that hesitation cost him a triple play as McCovey's relay to second just failed to nip the returning Kubek.

McCovey Juggles Grounder

Mickey Mantle then was safe at first when McCovey juggled the Mick's grounder and his hurried throw pulled the covering Sanford off the bag for a second Giant error. But Sanford escaped unscored on when Roger Maris lined to Felipe Alou in left.

The Giants jumped into the lead with one run in the 3rd when they rapped Terry for two hits. Pagan led off with a single to center and Sanford sacrificed him to second with a bunt down the first base line.

Hiller made up for that first inning boot at this point by rapping a double to left which scored Pagan with the ice breaker. Terry got the next two men to strand Hiller there.

Sanford, after posting 12 straight shutout innings against the Yankees, relinquished a run in the 4th on a bloop double and his own wild pitch to square it up at 1-1.

Tresh led off with that double, looping it into center where it bounced off Pagan's glove as the shortstop tried for a running, over-the-shoulder catch. Mantle then walked on a 3-2 pitch—a new record of 36 Series walks for him—and now Sanford was facing Maris. He got behind, 3-0, fired a strike across, and then served up a pitch on which Maris forced Mantle at second. Tresh romped down to 3rd. Sanford fanned Elston Howard but with Skowron up, uncorked a wild pitch which bounced toward the Yankee dugout. Tresh raced across the plate as Tom Haller scrambled for the ball and—while Sanford then proceeded to strike out Skowron—it was all even at 1-1.

But only momentarily.

Because once again it was the same old sad story for Terry, who had given up a long homer, too, in his first loss of this Series.

Pagan, the first man up in the 5th, took a strike and then Terry laid it in there—and Pagan laid it out. The ball soared high, dropped some 15 rows back in the left field stands and the Giants led 2-1.

Yanks Tie Score

The Yankees squared it up in the 6th inning when Richardson, leading off, hit that topper down the 3rd base line and beat it out. Tresh sacrificed him to second and Richardson proceeded to 3rd while Mantle was grounding out. With Maris at the plate, Sanford fired a low pitch which got away from Haller and Richardson scored on the passed ball, sliding in under Sanford as the pitcher covered the plate.

That's where it stood when Tresh delivered the telling blow in the 8th and sent the Yankees back to San Francisco's Candlestick Park, leading 3 games to two and needing only one more to close it out.

There will be a day off for travel, with the 6th game on Friday and the 7th —if necessary—on Saturday.

Son Tommy's Homer Caused Mike To Cry

New York (AP)—Mike Tresh, a rugged outdoor man, cried unashamedly when his son, Tommy, hit a home run with two runners on base in the 8th inning to give the New York Yankees a 5-3 World Series victory over the San Francisco Giants Wednesday.

"I just couldn't stop the tears," said the proud father of the Yankees' prize rookie. "It was a wonderful feeling. It must be the happiest moment of my life."

The elder Tresh, a former big league ball player himself, was trying to describe his feeling when 24-year-old Tommy connected with a Jack Sanford fast ball and hit it into the lower right field stands to break a 2-2 tie. The Yankees went on to win and take a 3-to-2 edge in the Series.

"Couldn't Speak"

"I couldn't speak," he said, "and I couldn't stop crying. The people around me must have thought I was crazy. I just stood there in the rear of the stands with tears coming down my face, not saying a word, unable to move."

Mike has 3 box seats, for himself and his wife and daughter-in-law, Cheryl, Tommy's pretty wife. They had made the trip from Taylor, Mich., last Saturday to attend the 3 games at Yankee Stadium. They were good seats, too, right behind home plate but Mike was so nervous, he could hardly sit.

He found sitting impossible whenever Tommy came to bat. More than once, Mrs. Tresh turned to her husband only to find he'd gone.

Said A Prayer

That's what happened just before Tommy came to bat in the 8th. When Sanford made his first pitch, a ball, Mike was hemmed in among the standees in the back of the stands, wetting his lips nervously and saying a little prayer for his son.

Mike's prayer was answered in a hurry. The switch-hitting Tresh, Jr., hitting left-handed, bashed right-handed Sanford's second pitch into the stands.

"I knew it was gone the minute Tommy hit it," said Mike. "I was a catcher long enough to know when a ball is out of there."

Mike, now 49, hasn't caught since 1950, but he worked for 11 years behind the plate for the Chicago White Sox and put in another half season with the Cleveland Indians. He also managed two years in the minors and was Rocky Colavito's first manager at Daytona Beach, Fla.

Not A Hitter

"I was a pretty good receiver but not much of a hitter, said Mike. One year I caught every game in the schedule for the White Sox. But in 11½ years I hit a total of two home runs. Shucks, Tommy tied my record in one afternoon."

Tresh, now a security guard at a Ford Motors plant in Livonia, Mich., said he prepared Tommy for a big league baseball career from early childhood.

"I didn't push him," Mike said. "But I didn't have to. He always loved to play ball. It was natural for him since he was around big league ball players all his life. As a kid, he played on a baseball team that had sons of former White Sox stars Joe Kuhel, Rip Radcliff, Monty Stratton and Thornton Lee. Thornton's son, who pitches for Los Angeles, is a very good friend of Tommy's."

Tommy is a natural right-hander but Mike made him into a switch hitter.

"I began teaching him to hit lefty when he was 7 or 8," Mike said. "Being a catcher, I knew what an advantage it was to hit left-handed."

Mike will miss the rest of the Series.

"I wish I could," said Mike, "but I must go back to work."

Nebraska, with 1183 yards, has averaged 394.3 in 3 games, to rank behind Northwestern (497), Wisconsin (441.5, Arkansas (433.7), West Texas State (418.3), Villanova (410.5), Oregon (403), Michigan State (399) and Florida State (396.3) in the average department.

The Cornhuskers, unbeaten in 3 games, rank 11th in rushing offense with 769 yards and a 256.3 average (West Texas State leads with 1394 yards and a 348.5 average), according to figures compiled by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau.

Nebraska is 6th in scoring (38.0 average), trailing Wisconsin (49.5), West Texas State (47.3), Northwestern (41.0), Utah State (39.5) and Arkansas (39.3).

In the pass defense department, Nebraska ranks 10th, holding opponents to 167 yards and a 55.7 average. Northwestern leads with 30 yards and a 15.0 average.

Canada's Cowan Keeps Pressure On Leaders

Kawana, Japan (AP) — Canada's Gary Cowan kept the pressure on the pace-setting United States team today as the second round of the World Amateur Team Championship of Golf got off to a soggy start.

Cowan, probably the longest hitter in the field of 92 players representing 23 nations, shot a one-over-par 71 in the rain for a two-day total of 139.

SCARLET SALUTE:

Confidence Aids NU's Claridge

By DON BRYANT
Star Sports Editor

"Confidence!"

That one word sums up pretty well why Dennis Claridge has developed from a sophomore with potential but a lot of rough edges to a junior quarterback with star status in the Big 8.

The Cornhusker quarterback is leading the league in scoring and passing. And he's the fellow who has skippered Nebraska in daring — and adept — fashion through 3 straight victories, the last two over potent teams.

"I think the most important difference between the way I played last year and what's happened this year is confidence," Claridge said. "As a sophomore my capabilities weren't as strong and I had too many weaknesses. As a result, the team didn't hold me in the highest esteem.

"This year I've got more confidence in myself and the team seems to have more confidence in me."

Denny also feels that a year of seasoning, plus "an offense that gives us a chance to do more things" has been a big help.

Claridge was red-shirted (held out of competition) as a sophomore and he's not sure whether the added year of maturity offset lack of game competition.

"I think it might have hurt me a little," he said. "while it gave me a year to mature more, I lost some of the knowledge and contact conditioning that comes in games."

Denny, a 6-2, 212-pounder, gives the Nebraska coaches full credit for his and the team's improvement.

"The coaches — all of them — have been a big asset by instilling the confidence you need," he said. "You've got to have it in mates, and they in you, and the coaches have done that."

Credits Mates

The Husker quarterback credits his teammates for solid protection this fall, too.

"I don't get much chance to watch the other guys — the coaches just try to get me to get the ball away early enough — on pass plays, but the protection has been real good," he said. "I know because I haven't been caught from behind — and that's good."

Claridge does considerably more running under Devaney's style of football and that's okay with him.

"Like to Run"

"I like to run," he said. "I didn't run too much as a sophomore, and I guess it was about even (running and passing) in high school.

Fans may have noticed Claridge threw a couple of hair-raising blocks against Iowa State and Denny said that was something he didn't do in high school.

"I got some work on blocking last year when I worked as a halfback for a couple of games," said the former Robbinsdale, Minn., all-stater. "I've missed a lot of blocks, though. But I like to practice blocking — and it sure doesn't hurt to know how."

In regard to his passing, Denny feels the improvement is due to "a lot of work on throwing during the summer and fall," as well as the general improvement of the Husker receivers through hard work.

"I think the receivers are improved, but I didn't have gripes about their catching last year," he said. "Nobody can catch every pass that's thrown."

Any particular thrill or exciting moment this fall?

"Winning games means more than anything," Claridge said.

Huskers Put Emphasis On Offense Maneuvers

. . . FOR TOUGH NCS DEFENSE

The Cornhuskers Wednesday afternoon devoted a good portion of their practice session to reviewing and polishing various offensive maneuvers.

Coach Bob Devaney emphasized the reason was because "North Carolina State will be the toughest defensive team we've met this year.

"Statistics reveal an interesting point," he said. "Maryland had gained 839 yards in two games, but North Carolina State held Maryland to only 193 yards last week."

Devaney said the Cornhuskers based victory thinking on the "hope our offense will be a little more versatile than the offenses of the teams North Carolina State has played."

The Husker coaching staff is worrying because NCS "knows a lot more about us than the other clubs we've played."

He explained that his Wyoming teams beat the Wolfpack at Raleigh, 26-0, in 1959 and 15-14 last year at Laramie.

"They've got a lot of films and first-hand knowledge of our type of football," Bob said.

Carlson Set

Husker co-captain Dwain Carlson will be able to play Saturday, Devaney announced. He suffered a leg injury against Iowa State.

Halfback Dennis Stuewe suited up Wednesday and may be ready. But halfback Dave Theisen, fullback Bill Thornton and guard Gary Toogood are not expected to see action.

While Toogood is definitely sidelined, Devaney said it was highly unlikely either Theisen or Thornton would be used this week.

Neither were in pads Wednesday.

Wolfpack Expects To Have Its Defensive Hands Full

Lincoln Star Special

Raleigh, N.C.—North Carolina State will have its defensive hands full when it meets undefeated Nebraska in an intersectional football game Saturday.

The Cornhuskers have scored 114 points in 3 games, for a 38.0 per game average, while the Wolfpack has scored only 13 points this year.

The Wolfpack, however, has given ground grudgingly and allowed but 27 points, with two of the scores resulting from lightning-like plays. A 53-yard run-pass set up Clemson's only touchdown in the 7-0 loss to the Tigers. Then a Maryland 78-yard punt return — after the runner was seemingly caught at the point of the catch of the punt—was the difference in the 14-6 loss to the undefeated Terrapins.

"I don't think we'll run up against a stronger offensive team this year," said Wolfpack scout Ernie Driscoll. "They have in Dennis Claridge one of the most effective quarterbacks in the country. He likes to run and when he rolls out, he is tough on either the pass or run option."

The Cornhuskers have speedy backs in Dennis Stuewe (11-0 rushing average) and Willie Ross, who has picked up 148 yards rushing.

Although the Cornhuskers have been free-wheeling on offense, averaging 4 touchdowns in each game, they are also very strong on defense, noted Driscoll.

"They haven't yielded much yardage on defense and have had only 35 points scored against them. They held Michigan to 13 points and Michigan bounced Army from the undefeated teams last Saturday," said Driscoll, who has seen the Cornhuskers against Michigan and Iowa State.

Creighton Slates Opening Of Cage Drills Monday

Omaha (AP) — The Creighton University basketball squad will officially open its practice sessions Monday with a session open to the press.

The first workout will be Tuesday, Coach Red McManus announced.

Creighton, which wound up the 1961-62 season with a 21-5 record will have 7 returning lettermen, including Paul Silas, junior, who was the No. 2 rebounder in the nation last year. Silas and Larry Wagner, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, senior, will be co-captains.

Tresh Choked Up, But Only On Bat

New York (UPI) — Tom Tresh unashamedly confessed he "choked up" Wednesday but he meant on the bat and not in the throat.

The calm, 24-year-old Yankee rookie drew startled gasps from his listeners when he said he choked up just before smashing his game-winning 3-run homer in the 8th and it took a little explaining before he was fully understood.

"What I mean is that I choked up on the bat," he said, a suggestion of a twinkle in his boyish blue eyes. "I was only trying for a single nothing more."

No Illusions

Tresh's climactic homer off hard-working Jack Sanford was his 8th hit in 20 times up so far in his first World Series and although his .400 batting average leads the Yankees he has no illusions about emerging the Series hero.

"It's a long way from being over yet," said Tresh, who one year ago Wednesday was watching the World Series on television at Central Michigan Universtiy.

"I was supposed to be in the library but I was watching the ball game instead," he laughed. "I didn't have any idea of being in the Series this year but I was sure hoping."

Tresh hit a fast ball for his homer off Sanford.

'Hits Corners'

"He hits the corners real well," said the blond leftfielder. "He had jammed me pretty good the first two times up.

Two of the Yankee players who reveled in Tresh's homer even more than he did, from the looks of things, anyway, were pitcher Ralph Terry and shortstop Tony Kubek.

Terry had every reason to be happy; This was his first World Series triumph following 4 straight defeats.

"I was a little worried in the 9th pitching to (pinch hitter Ed) Bailey," Terry revealed. "I threw him a slow curve and for a moment there I thought it might drop in for a base hit."

As Terry spoke, the Yankee clubhouse man said there was a long distance telephone call for him from his home in Larned, Kans.

Feeding In 9th

"That was my wife," Terry revealed when he came back from the phone. "She just got back from the hospital after having our baby and she was feeding him in the 9th."

If necessary, Terry said he could come back and pitch in the 7th and final game.

Kubek, who reclaimed the first-string shortstop job from Tresh after returning from the Army last Aug. 8, beamed almost as much over young Tom's homer as Tresh's father, Mike, did.

Mike, a former catcher for the White Sox who hit only two homers in his long career, stood by proudly as reporters interviewed his son.

"He's simply terrific," Kubek said of Tresh. "He shows me something not only with his bat, but with his speed and with his glove. He's going to be a great ballplayer real soon."

Houk Not Crowing

Yankee manager Ralph Houk wasn't crowing over his team's 3-games-to-two advantage over the Giants.

"I remember the Milwaukee Braves of 1958," Houk said. "They were up on us, 3-games-to-two, and still lost, remember?

"Naturally we have the advantage but there's still time left for anything to happen."

Houk said he was not embarrassed over the fact the Yankees scored their first run Wednesday on a wild pitch by Sanford and their second one on catcher Tom Haller's passed ball.

"That merely showed alert base-running on our part," he said.

Then taking a long puff on his cigar and laughing, he quipped:

"For awhile there it was beginning to look like our best play."

GIANT ERROR . . . Hiller drops ball as Kubek advances to second where Pagan covers. Play began when Richardson hit grounder.

Sanford's Strike Was Wrong Kind

. . . WINDS UP AS HOMER

New York (UPI) — "I tried for a strike on the outside corner but it was a fast ball right up the middle and that was it," big Jack Sanford said mournfully Wednesday of the pitch that wound up as a 3-run homer for Tom Tresh and a 5-3 victory for the New York Yankees over the San Francisco Giants.

"This was the one we wanted to win, the big one," Sanford said. "I was trying to strike him out with two men on and (Mickey) Mantle coming up next. It was the wrong kind of a strike."

Manager Alvin Dark, who had gone out to the mound to talk with Sanford after Tony Kubek and Bobby Richardson had singled with one out in the fatal 8th inning, said he never once thought of taking Sanford out of the game up to that point.

"I just wanted to settle him down a bit," Dark said. "He has pitched too good against the Yankees for me to take him out."

Dark, now down 3-2 in the World Series, obviously was bitter about several plays during the game and called it, "the worst game we've played in a long time. We really played bad."

But he refused to elaborate except to say, "What kinda first inning do you call that?"

"It will go 7 games," Dark vowed. "Whoever wins the 7th takes it all."

Billy Pierce pitches for the Giants Friday, Dark said, and Al will "wait and see" whether to come back with Sanford in the event a 7th game is played.

"If he wants me to," Sanford said, "I'll pitch."

The Yankees scored their first run in the 4th on a wild pitch which Sanford said was a slider that spun away from catcher Tom Haller. Haller let a passed ball get away from him in the 6th for another Yankee run.

"It was a curve ball that hit my glove and I must have taken my eye off of it but I thought we had the runner (Richardson) out anyway on my throw to Sanford.

"We had him," Sanford said, "But the umpire said he slid under my tag."

In the first, the Giants might have pulled off a triple play when Tresh lined to Sanford with men on first and second but Jack said, "I wasn't sure for a second I had caught the ball and by the time I knew I had it I figured I'd better throw to first for a double play instead of going to second."

Most of the Giants were full of fight but Sanford really was down. As he was relieved by Stu Miller after Tresh's homer, Sanford looked over his shoulder toward right field as he walked toward the dugout. Why?

"I felt bad," he said, "And I just wanted to look where he hit it."

No Noisy Greetings For Giants, Yankees

San Fancisco (AP) — The World Series teams landed Wednesday night in separate planes about 5 minutes apart and were greeted quietly.

The San Francisco Giants debarked at Pan American's maintenance base, about two miles north of San Francisco International Airport.

There was no tumultuous welcome such as the frenzied greeting they received a week ago Wednesday night after winning the National League pennant playoff in Los Angeles.

Dunkel Tabs Top Teams To Breeze

. . . HUSKERS GIVEN 11-POINT MARGIN

By DICK DUNKEL

This week's chore looks like a breeze for most of college football's Top 10.

They've rated themselves from 8 to 51 points stronger than their opponents of next Saturday.

Louisiana State should have the hardest assignment — against Miami, Fla. UCLA, conqueror of awesome Ohio State, has the easiest—against limping Colorado State. Ole Miss, currently No. 1, will have an open date.

Here's the Dunkel Index difference — or par — which each leader has set over his intended victim of this week:

Alabama 17 over Houston
Wisconsin 16 over Notre Dame
Texas 17 over Oklahoma
Arkansas 20 over Baylor
Penn State 20 over Army
UCLA 51 over Colo. State
LSU 8 over Miami, Fla.
Purdue 26 over Miami, O.
Ohio St. 29 over Illinois

Each of the nation's 750 college teams sets its own power potential through progressive index of difference by score. The higher rating team has won in 78.9 % of the 602 games, not counting ties, covered here this season to date.

Pars in other big games:

Friday Night

Kentucky 22 over Detroit, Miss. State 15 over Tulane.

Saturday

EAST: Syracuse 4 over Boston College, Holy Cross 16 over Harvard, Navy 20 over Cornell, Dartmouth 14 over Brown, Princeton 23 over Penn, Columbia 2 over Yale.

MIDWEST: Minnesota 6 over Northwestern, Iowa 11 over Indiana, Missouri 30 over Kansas State, Kansas 19 over Iowa State, Nebraska 11 over N.C. State, Mich. State 2 over Michigan.

SOUTH: Georgia Tech 8 over Tennessee, Auburn 33 over Chattanooga, Pitt 5 over W. Virginia, Duke 15 over California, Florida even with Texas A&M, Clemson 5 over Georgia, Maryland 6 over N. Carolina, S. Carolina 5 over Wake Forest.

SOUTHWEST: Rice 5 over Oregon, TCU 10 over Texas Tech, Utah State 13 over New Mexico, Arizona State 1 over West Texas.

FAR WEST: Washington 5 over Oregon State, Wash. State 11 over Stanford, Utah 16 over Brigham Young, Wyoming 20 over Texas Western.

Limerick Still Hospitalized; Out Of Kansas Game

Ames, Iowa (UPI) — Tailback Ozzie Clay, who broke open the game in Iowa State's 21-15 victory over Oklahoma last year but has seen limited service since because of a knee injury, has been promoted to the first team safety spot on defense for the Cyclones, coach Clay Stapleton said Wednesday.

Clay, a junior from Hickory, N.C., will also alternate with Dave Hoppmann on offense at tailback in Saturday's game here against Kansas, Stapleton added.

Otis Williams, sophomore from Lima, Ohio, and George Crayton, South Bend, Ind., sophomore, will share offensive wingback duties in place of the ailing Dick Limerick.

Limerick, Sioux City junior, is still hospitalized in Des Moines after suffering an attack of convulsions Tuesday. He will definitely not play against Kansas, Stapleton said.

JFK Signs Drugs Pact

Washington (AP) — Congress members who helped, in the face of time-consuming controversy, to push through a bill to tighten controls on production and sale of prescription drugs watched President Kennedy sign the legislation Wednesday.

The President, using several pens, said the bill would be an instrument in helping produce safe and more effective drugs to the public. The legislation is in line with Kennedy's recommendations.

The chief executive handed the first pen to Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., and praised him for the long hearings his senate subcommittee held on the drug field, which laid the basis for many provisions in the bill.

Rep. Oren Harris, D-Ark., chairman of the House Commerce Committee which also looked into the drug industry, was ill at home.

On hand for the White House signing was Dr. Frances O. Kelsey, the Food and Drug Administration medical officer whose adamant stand prevented introduction of the drug thalidomide into the U.S. market. Findings that this sedative was responsible for deformities in thousands of infants in Europe and that some American mothers took it on an experimental basis gave the bill its final push to passage.

Kefauver's committee held a two-year investigation.

EXILED CUBANS . . . train in Florida's underbrush.

ANTI-CASTRO CUBANS IN TRAINING

Miami, Fla (AP)—Anti-Castro Cubans were reported in training Wednesday in jungle warfare tactics on No Name Key, 120 miles southwest of Miami.

"This is a preliminary training site," said Steve Wilson, a former U.S. marine from Mansfield, Ohio, who heads the camp. "We weed out the men from the boys here. The ones who make the grade go on to other camps in the everglades."

No Name Key, used as a training site before the Bay of Pigs invasion in April 1961, can be reached only by boat. It is about a half mile off Big Pine Key in Florida Bay, 30 miles north of Key West.

About 30 men were on the island when Richard K. Agnew, a free lance photographer from Marathon, photographed activities there.

Rifles used by the trainees include M1, .30-06 Springfields and a Russian made gun. Other weapons are knives, bayonets, .45 caliber automatics and demolition charges.

The trainees live in old homes built years ago when No Name Key was connected to nearby Big Pine Key by a bridge.

Classes Reopen In Italian Colleges

Rome (AP)—Classes reopened in Italy's 27 universities after a 9-day strike by assistant professors and students.

The education ministry promised to submit a bill to parliament incorporating most of their demands: more job security for professors, cheaper medical care, and restaurants for students.

U.S. Offers Evidence On Troops

Washington (AP)—The United States offered Wednesday to turn over to the 3-nation International Control Commission whatever evidence it has that troops of Communist North Viet Nam still are in Laos.

State Department Press Officer Lincoln White said this country has asked for an unhampered investigation by representatives of the control commission to determine whether all North Vietnamese troops have left Laos in accordance with the Geneva agreement.

The Geneva accord, signed by 14 nations last July, provided guarantees for the neutrality of Laos and stipulated that all foreign forces should be withdrawn by Oct. 7.

More than 660 U.S. military advisers and technicians were checked out by Indian police and Canadian representatives of the control commission before the deadline. Only 40 North Vietnamese were checked out by the inspectors.

White said "it appears that several thousand Vietminh (communist troops of North Viet Nam) remained in Laos after the deadline."

Yemen Is 'At War' With Saudi Arabia

Cairo (AP) — A high Yemeni official was quoted by the United Arab Republic's Middle East News Agency as saying Thursday Yemen considers itself at war with neighboring Saudi Arabia. There was no indication that he was speaking officially. His words were taken here with reservation.

The news agency's dispatch from San'a, the capital of Yemen, quoted Vice Premier Abdel Rahmen El Beidany as saying Saudi Arabia has massed troops on the frontiers and had infiltrated arms into Yemen, "which is considered an attack on the Yemeni republic." According to the agency, Beidany added:

"This leads the Yemen government to consider itself in a state of war with Saudi Arabia."

Full Strength

The dispatch reached Cairo shortly after the UAR government had pledged all its strength to defend Yemen against any attack on the two-week-old revolutionary regime that overthrew the monarchy. Backers of the monarchy, including members of the royal family, have been attempting a counter-revolution.

There had been signs that the UAR government of President Nasser had prepared for any eventuality in Yemen. But only Wednesday UAR destroyers scheduled to sail toward Yemen from Suez had their orders cancelled and were held in port, although still alerted, informed sources said.

The Yemeni premier, Col. Abdullah Sallal, who overthrew the Yemen monarchy two weeks ago, was quoted Thursday morning as saying: "Everyone should know that the UAR has placed all its facilities at the service of the Yemeni revolution to repel any attack on us."

Pledge Issued

The UAR pledge was issued by Prime Minister Aly Sabry after a meeting of the presidency council presided over by President Nasser.

Sabry said the council decided after assessing the situation in Yemen and "the present Saudi Arabian-Jordanian aggression on Yemen's northern borders, as well as interference directed at the southern region."

Since the revolt broke out Yemen and the UAR have pledged to support the new regime, but this was the firmest statement yet, implying full military support.

It is known that some Egyptian units are already in Yemen, as well as shipments of arms, tanks and other equipment. Naval units at Suez have also been alerted to be ready to move into Yemen waters.

Seaton Hits Beatrice 'Unholy Mess'

Beatrice (AP)— Fred A. Seaton, Republican candidate for governor, Wednesday termed the situation at the Beatrice State Home an "unholy mess" and laid some of the blame on the present state administration.

During a visit to the home Seaton declared that not only did the present governor fail to ask for an increase in funds for the home, but the budget prepared under his administration actually took funds away from the old Board of Control and gave it to the University of Nebraska rather than to the new Department of Institutions.

He said he was glad to see the university get additional funds but he could not support taking it away from the department of institutions.

Overcrowded

"Here the home is overcrowded and understaffed," he said. "The classrooms, facilities and teacher personnel are adequate for educating only about half the students of the school that are capable of being taught."

Some students are in class only about 1½ hours a day, he said and the buildings, erected around 1900, need modernization.

Seaton also said that the reported waiting list of about 100 appears unrealistic because many parents have been told of the difficulty of getting children into the home and of its poor facilities and may have been discouraged from applying.

Seaton declared that as a member of the Nebraska Legislature in 1945 he supported the 1.1 mill building levy and urged a change in public thinking to regard the home as a place for treatment of mental illness rather than as an asylum.

He was in Beatrice for a public rally following an afternoon visit to Wymore.

Traffic Plans To Keep City Qualified For U.S. Road Aid

Lincoln has existing and proposed traffic planning procedures that should continue to qualify the city for urban federal-aid highway funds after July 1, 1965.

This is the general opinion of City Planning Director Douglas Brogden and Traffic Engineer Robert Holsinger in regard to the new federal act.

After the 1965 deadline, cities of more than 50,000 population face losing federal aid funds unless traffic planning procedures are set up.

Planning Necessary

No urban federal-aid project can be approved unless the federal government finds it results from a "continuing, comprehensive planning process."

Brogden says the city administration is aware of the new law, but detailed rules and regulations have not yet been released.

However, Brogden believes that Lincoln is well under way toward meeting the general requirements.

He points out that Lincoln has a Comprehensive Regional Plan (Lincoln and Lancaster County), is one of the few cities in the nation with a regional plan.

The plan takes cognizance of transportation problems, he notes, and reports available traffic data and proposes a major street and highway plan.

Asset Column

Also in the asset column is the newly-created office of traffic engineer and procedures.

Brogden says the proposed $100,000 comprehensive traffic survey, with origin-destination and related data, should meet probable federal requirements.

Holsinger said any comprehensive traffic planning process should include such study.

Financing of the proposed study, of which two-thirds could come from federal funds, is under study and negotiation as a result of a recent City Council session regarding preliminary planning on the Northeast Diagonal.

Both the East O improvement project, now under construction, and the Northeast Diagonal are designated federal-aid projects.

Police Seeking Thieves In Rash Of Car Prowling

Police Wednesday were looking for thieves who staged a recent rash of burglaries from cars, some of which were left unlocked.

Detective Lowell Sellmeyer said that "14 cars have been burglarized within the last two days."

Seven cars in an apartment building garage at 2415 A were entered by thieves who broke in wing windows. Two more in the same garage also were entered. Owners had left the doors unlocked, police reported.

Two cars in the street at 1406 So. 24th and one at 1341 So. 24th were also entered by thieves breaking through wing windows.

Thieves also entered two unlocked cars in a garage at 2355 A.

Cameras, flashlights, eye glasses, coats, camera film and cigarets were taken from the cars, said officials.

Sellmeyer said several hundred dollars damage had been done to the cars.

Morrison Okays Funds To Expand Norfolk Hospital

Gov. Frank Morrison Wednesday approved spending $100,000 for expanding the Norfolk State Hospital.

Public Institutions Director George Morris said bids on the expansion project will be accepted Nov. 1. Completion plans are set for next spring.

Morris said some work has already begun at Norfolk. "All of the old plumbing has been ripped out," he said.

Morris had requested the money to relieve crowded conditions at the Beatrice State Home. With the added room at Norfolk, he explained, 90 Beatrice patients can be moved to Norfolk.

"Thus we hope to eliminate the waiting list at Beatrice," he said.

Elks To Award 142 Scholarships

Some 142 scholarships totaling $110,000 will be given by the Elks National Foundation during 1963 to the nation's superior students.

Applicants for the scholarships must have a scholastic rating of 90% or better and must be in the upper 5% of their classes. Personal standards will also be considered.

The competition will be open to all high school seniors or college students except seniors.

Promising Stock Advance Fades

New York (AP) — A promising stock market advance faded Wednesday afternoon but the list still held enough of a statistical edge to register a modest gain. Trading was moderate.

Prices began to fade in the afternoon, just about the time attention began to be distracted by the World Series game. While this accounted for a drastic fall off in the previously lively trading pace, it was not a logical explanation for an erasure of some sizable gains and their replacement with steep losses.

The best explanation immediately available was that quite a number of stocks had reached upside resistance levels in their price charts and this occasioned selling.

The day began with a good carry through from late Tuesday's rally. Talk in Wall Street was that the list might be making a renewed assault on the overhead barrier represented by about 600 in the Dow Jones industrial average.

The Dow Jones industrial average at 2 p.m. EDT was up 4.60. Then came the wilting of prices. The result was that the Dow Industrials closed with a net gain of only .96 at 588.14.

Volume, while still subaverage for the year, rose to the biggest this week. 3.04 million shares compared with 2.34 million Tuesday.

Among the 1,251 issues traded, gainers outnumbered losers by 546 to 421. New highs for the year rose to 8 and new lows dropped to 16, considerable narrowing the usual spread in favor of new lows.

Among the 15 most actively traded issues, however, the late weakness resulted in a score of 12 losers, two gainers, and one unchanged, General Telephone & Electronics.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were mixed as volume rose to 830,000 shares from 660,000 Tuesday.

Corporate and U.S. government bonds improved in light trading.

Housewife Won't Pay Phone Levy

Grosse Pointe Park, Mich. (AP)—An attractive housewife here says the telephone is neither a luxury nor a sin and shouldn't be taxed as such by the state of Michigan.

Mrs. Gloria J. Mead says she won't pay the recent 4% increase in the state's use tax on telephones. "It isn't right," she insists, adding, "I feel like carrying this thing all the way to the death house, if necessary."

The penalty isn't that bad, however. The law says anyone failing to pay is subject to a maximum fine of $5,000 or a year in jail or both.

No Jail

But a deputy attorney, Leon Cohan, said he doubted the mother of 4 will ever go to jail, although he points out that is up to the discretion of the court.

Mrs. Mead's contentions are:

1. "I didn't have a state senator in Lansing when the tax was passed and wasn't represented." (Her senator had resigned to take a seat in Congress and the state senate seat was vacant when the tax was passed last July 1.)

2. "I don't consider a telephone a luxury or a sin. If it is either, why is the telephone company called a utility and put under the Michigan Public Service Commission?"

The tax, which averages about 50 cents a month, was imposed as part of a package of so-called nuisance taxes on cigarettes, beer, liquor, and corporation franchise fees.

The phone company says she's the only one to protest. Mrs. Mead has been paying her phone bill in person, deducting the tax.

She pays the federal tax, saying, "I don't want to get involved with the federal people. They scare me."

The phone company says, "It is our practice not to take enforcement action against a customer if the charges for telephone service are paid."

But Michigan Bell reported the case to State Revenue Commissioner Clarence Lock. He says, "Our next step will be to . . . decide whether we're going to proceed against Mrs. Mead or hold the company liable."

Mrs. Mead quoted her husband, Marvin, as saying, "Dear, it's going to be expensive paying for all these things you believe in."

MRS. MEAD . . . won't pay.

'Farmer Will Become Peon If Cost-Income Gap Grows'

American farmers "Can look forward to a system of peonage" if the gap caused by increasing costs and decreasing farm income keeps on growing, W. J. Brake predicted Wednesday.

Addressing the Nebraska State Grange convention in Lincoln, Brake, master of the Michigan Grange, said: Unless everyone fully understands the tremendous importance of agriculture, farmers could well find themselves second-class citizens."

The Lansing, Mich., lecturer of the National Grange, declared that "we in the Grange believe that the compensation of each should be based upon what he contributes to the general welfare."

Two Alternatives

He said he saw two alternatives for farming if "the cost-price squeeze continues."

Brake asserted that farmers will either "be forced to a standard of living far lower than that of others," or "we would rapidly drift toward a system of large farms owned and managed by a few wealthy people, or by government."

He warned: "This, however, is merely another description of peonage or peasantry. In either case, we must necessarily concede that our system of democracy has failed."

It would be "far better, we believe, that we first enlist public understanding, and then enable farmers to control production to meet domestic and foreign demands," Brake said.

"This must be done," he explained, "before the situation gets to the point of no return!"

Fifteen Charged With Speculation In Soviet Union

Moscow (AP)—Fifteen defendants, all bearing apparently Jewish names, are on trial charged with currency speculation in the Ukranian city of Chernovitsy.

The newspaper Pravda of the Ukraine said the 15 had tens of thousands of rubles worth of gold, diamonds, foreign currency and checks on the Bank of England in their possession.

It named as the ringleaders 81-year-old Alter Bronstein and a woman lawyer, Esther Weinberg.

The trial was the latest in a series of trials for economic offenses in which many of the defendants appeared to be of Jewish origin. More than 30 Jewish defendants have received death sentences.
